James C. Thompson Leaving Government Service

Announcement of the resignation of Mr. Thompson was made by Premier Will Iam Aberhart following a conference with Mr. Thompson.

In announcing the resignation, the premier said, "Mr. Thompson has been offered an attractive post at a most inviting salary, the whole constituting such an advantage to him that he feels he cannot refuse.

"The government regrets extremely losing Mr. Thompson's services after 12½ years of service. He has been an outstanding official and his method of accounting and many improvements he has made in the audit system here have been the subject of many congratulatory remarks.

"Mr. Thompson was a member of the government delegation that went to Ottawa in December to attend the Dominion-provincial conference and an advocate of the provincial financial situation. We are sorry to lose him as we looked upon him as an outstandingly capable official."

Mr. Thompson will leave here Friday night to join Hon. Charles Cockroft, provincial treasurer, in conference at Ottawa on Monday.

Premier Aberhart said that Mr. Thompson could make arrangements to remain at his post here until after the session.

Mr. Thompson enlisted here during the war in the ranks of the 49th Bn. and served with the regiment in France. He is now second in command of the 49th Bn., the Edmonton regiment, the perpetuating unit of the battalion.

"Like a Whetted Knife"

The poets have a charming way of describing the wind on a cold day as cutting "like the edge of a whetted knife."

Cold weather, however charming it may appear in poetry, is not always as delightful when it is actually experienced. One kind of cold weather, particularly — even without a breeze to stir the air — is disagreeable to everyone, the most rugged northerner. And that is the cold weather of indoors — the chilly blasts that greet you in the morning when you grope your way out of bed and downstairs to the furnace, the treachery of draughts that seem to exude from doors and windows.

A good way to cut down the cold-weather-indoors is through proper coal. Are you getting the most from your coal bill? Best place to shop for your fuel is in the "Coal and Wood" columns of the Bulletin Ad Section.

It's the fuel dealers' market place.

Somewhere in the ice-sheathed wasteland which is the unexplored continent of Antarctica are two men and a plane, the only speck of human life—if the men still live—in 5,000,000 square miles of the most barren territory on earth.

15 KILLED AS STORM SWEEPS BRITISH ISLES

Second Violent Gale of Week Takes Toll on Land and Sea

LONDON, Jan. 10.—At least fifteen persons were killed, many injured and widespread damage done last night by the second violent storm of this week in the British Isles.

The small cargo steamship Bradda, voyaging from Birkenhead to Ireland, foundered off Formby Point in the river Mersey. Only one of the crew of six was saved. Five bodies, believed to be those of the other members of the crew, were awashed ashore.

Two persons were killed by a falling tree at Rawenstall and a girl was killed in the collapse of a wall at Manchester.

TRAWLER IN DANGER

The Cunard steamer Bothinia reported she was standing by the trawler William Humphries, in danger off the Pembrokeshire coast.

The gale reached a force of 100 miles per hour, Pembroke lighthouse reported. Ships were sent scurrying to shelter from huge waves, while damage ashore was heavy.

Southwest England and the Irish Free State were the hardest hit. A fierce storm swept the Dub in district, causing much damage, while mountainous seas in the English channel and Irish sea dislocated shipping.

A girl was killed in Manchester when a wall collapsed, and five persons were taken to hospitals in

GILBERT DIES MILLIONAIRE

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10. — John Gilbert, last of the silent screen "great lovers," left a fortune estimated at nearly $1,000,000 when he died.

A heart attack yesterday ended the career of the 38-year-old actor, who climbed from extra ranks to stardom on the screen, then faded into retirement because his voice was too high-pitched for the "talkies".

Plan Honolulu To New Zealand Airline Shortly

HONOLULU, Jan. 10.—Commercial Airlines between Honolulu and New Zealand within a year are expected to follow the sailing last night of the coastguard cutter Itasca for Pago-Pago, American Samoa, to make preliminary surveys for the new route. Aviation and weather experts will make the first upper-air observation ever taken in the South Pacific ocean.

From a mass of feasible routes linking Honolulu with New Zealand and Australia, aviation experts have selected alternative possibilities. Both shoot almost directly from Hawaii to Kingman Reef, 1,000 miles southward and thence to Pago-Pago.

BAR SELECTS CALGARY MAN

J. E. A. McLeod, K.C., of Calgary, was elected president of the Law Society of Alberta when the Benchers held their meeting at the courthouse Friday morning. He succeeds H. H. Parlee, K.C.

Calgary cornered all the major executive posts as A. McLeod Sinclair, K.C., was elected vice-president, and Legh A. Walsh retained the post of secretary-treasurer as well as solicitor for the Law Society.

As usual, the Benchers held their session in camera and only news given to the press was election of officers. The lawyers dealt with a resolution forwarded to them from the Law Society's annual meeting, held Thursday, and also investigated charges against individual members of their profession.

TODD DEATH IS LAID TO GAS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 — The three-weeks-old grand jury investigation of actress Thelma Todd's mystery death probably will end Saturday, it was announced last night.

A report on a chemical analysis of vital organs remains and foreman George W. Rochester indicated it would show no sign of drug or poison. Miss Todd was found dead in her garage Dec. 16.

Gilbert Ira J. Wallis of the police homicide squad was one of the concluding witnesses. He reiterated belief that Miss Todd came to her death accidentally of monoxide poisoning.

Henry Portrait May Never Hang In Premier Row

TORONTO, Jan. 10—If former Ontario Premier George S. Henry does not feel that an artist could do justice to his visage for $1,000, there is a possibility that his portrait will never hang n the corridor at Queen's Park known as premier's row.

An appropriation of $1,000 was voted by the 1933 session of the legislature for an oil painting of the last Conservative premier, but it has not been utilized and Mr. Henry is said to be of the opinion that it is inadequate to pay for the kind of portrait he wants.

The present government, it was learned Thursday, steadfastly refuses to raise the ante.

Japanese Pouring Arms Into China

PEIPING, Jan. 10.—Foreigners reaching here today from Kalgan reported the Japanese army was pouring truckloads of arms into Chinese inner Mongolia, apparently with the aim of strengthening its position for an early showdown between Manchukuo and outer Mongolia.

BRUNO HOPE OF CHEATING CHAIR DARK

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 10.—The last hope of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to make a personal appearance before the Court of Pardons faded today when Governor Harold G. Hoffman's office announced the court would not meet at the state prison.

Hauptmann himself, has refused to elaborate on his old statements, and his insistence that he has nothing new to tell dimmed his chances of escaping the electric chair one week from tonight.

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 10—Bruno Richard Hauptmann's insistence he has nothing new to tell decreased today his chances of escaping the electric chair.

Gov. Harold G. Hoffman said it was "extremely" doubtful the court of pardons tomorrow would make the unprecedented move of sitting at the prison and hearing the last plea of the man condemned to die a week from tonight for the kidnap-killing of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Previously the governor had said the court was disposed to meet at the prison instead of the statehouse only if Hauptmann had a last-minute statement to make.

Hauptmann in his written request to appear, delivered to the governor a few days ago, limited it to an offer "to answer all questions."

The Governor, through William S. Conklin, his press aide, said the court, convening tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. to consider Hauptmann's plea for clemency, would meet as usual at the executive offices.

A meeting at state prison would have been without precedent, but Governor Hoffman's delay in announcing where the court would sit had been taken by some as an indication he hoped for a last-minute statement from the man convicted of the Lindbergh kidnap-murder.

VIEWS DIFFER ON STATUS OF MAJ. DOUGLAS

His Stand Clashes With That of Premier Aberhart

LONDON, Jan. 10.—"It rests entirely with the Alberta government," Major Clifford Douglas, Social Credit economist, told the Canadian Press Friday, when asked whether he would again go out to Edmonton.

"I have had occasional correspondence with them," he added, "but I have no direct invitation to go out."

While Maj. C. H. Douglas, chief reconstruction adviser to the provincial government, is quoted in a telegraphic despatch from London as stating that "I have had no direct invitation to go out" to this province, Premier William Aberhart takes the opposite view.

Queried on Major Douglas' statement, the Premier said:

"There must be some misunderstanding. I have here on my desk a copy of a cablegram sent Major Douglas on Dec. 20, asking Major Douglas to come here by Jan. 6.

"I also have on my desk a letter from Major Douglas' secretary acknowledging receipt of that cablegram."

Major Douglas is further quoted in London as stating that it rests entirely with the Alberta government as to whether he would come.

Premier Aberhart states that he is anxious to have Major Douglas come and his wire urging him to come by Jan. 6 is proof of this.

Major Douglas previously was quoted as stating he would come if "satisfactory arrangements" could be made.

He is under a two year contract to come, drawing a retainer of $5,000 for two years plus $2,500 for every individual visit of not more than three weeks duration and not more than two such visits in a year.

POLICE HOLDING SOCIETY GIRL

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.— Phyllis Rees, alias Mary O'Connell 24-year-old Scottish-born Winnipeg girl, today awaited sentence on seven charges of obtaining goods by false pretence while investigation was made into her social activities.

Information the girl moved in Montreal society circles will be checked, Judge Maurice Tetreau said as he postponed sentence to January 15.

A social worker said the girl, who was held on six similar charges in 1933 and found six months later in hospital suffering from amnesia, is a kleptomaniac.

HOUSE PASSES VETERAN BONUS 2-BILLION BILL

Immediate Cash Payment Demanded—Goes to Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — A crushing United States House of Representatives majority today passed and sent to the Senate a bill authorizing immediate cash payment of the bonus to nearly 3,500,000 American Great War veterans. Its immediate cost was estimated variously from $1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000.

The vote on passage was announced by Speaker Byrns as 355 to 58, more than the two-thirds required to pass legislation, over a presidential veto.

The bill was backed by the American Legion, veterans of foreign wars and disabled American veterans.

Prompt consideration of the cash bonus issue by the Senate Finance Committee was promised by Chairman Harrison (D., Miss.).

Union pressure for the house bill is too great, the committee was considered likely to amend the measure to vote out a less liberal one of its own, realizing President Roosevelt is opposed to full payment at this time.

Democratic leader Robinson has conferred with Roosevelt and was believed to have conveyed the executive's attitude to all bonus camps whose representatives have been conferring in secret for several days.

Robinson was hopeful a bill can be passed that will meet executive approval.

Just before final passage, the house defeated 319 to 89 a motion by Representative Treadway (R., Mass.) to return the bill to committee under instructions to require payment with unexpended relief funds.

TODAY'S ODDEST NEWS

WASN'T MIRACLE BUT GREAT COINCIDENCE

WELLAND, Ont., Jan. 10.—Well, maybe it wasn't a miracle but it was a great coincidence.

Exercising by proclamation a power granted in the Gold Reserve Act, Mr. Roosevelt said the "emergency" prompting the measure's approval in 1934 "has not been terminated by international monetary agreement or otherwise, but, on the contrary, continues and has been intensified in divers respects by unsettled conditions in international commerce and finance and in foreign exchange."

ETHIOPIANS ENJOY WOUNDS MARCH DAY ON CUP OF TEA

Tens of Thousands Trudge To Battle in Orderly Disorder

By GORDON SINCLAIR

All through the night troops hurried to the war zone. Some loped along like the tireless mountaineers they were; some rode sad mules; a few rumbled in motor cars. Some howled defiance to their country's enemies until they fell in exhaustion with flecks of foam on their purple lips. These were mostly Somalis. The Ethiopians themselves were quiet, dignified and a little scornful.

WINS $350 IN DRAW AS LAD GOES FARMING

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., Jan. 10.—Frank Kehler, young son of a Wymark farmer, has a well developed sense of the old pioneers, and is a shining example to post-war youth. With 2,000 persons present Frank Kehler's name was called in the draw for a trip to the Stanley cup series, or $350 cash.

His congratulations on his luck and the wish he would enjoy the trip, he remarked he was taking the cash. It was intimated that would make a good investment on a nice car, but to the surprise of all, he quietly stated he intended to start farming with it.

He rented a farm near the parental home, 20 miles south of here, and is getting ready for his spring work.

CANADA MAY ADOPT CHAIR FOR CRIMES

BY THOMAS WAYLING

Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—The electric chair, the lethal chamber or some other modern method of executing those sentenced to death for capital crimes, may be substituted in Canada for the archaic hanging, now extant.

The royal commission on penology which is to investigate the penitentiary system of Canada will also be charged with an enquiry into the capital punishment phase.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, referred in the House last session to a "ghastly incident" relating to a hanging in Montreal.

"I believe the electric chair or some other device might be preferable to this remnant of old days when such things as we have read about in the papers recently are likely to happen. The question ought to be settled, and I think it is a reform that should be brought about in this country."

LITTLE ALFIE PUTS PEP INTO FAN DANCE ACT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 10.—An unclothed—she insisted that way, anyway—fan dancer tripped across the stage here behind a six-foot practically transparent balloon.

Bang! went the balloon. Away went the dancer, fleeing to the wings.

"Oh! Ah!" breathed the audience.

An usher grabbed Alfred and took him to the manager's office. Alfred's father was summoned and told the balloon would cost him $28.

ADVANCES TO GIRL CAUSED DEATH OF 4

Described by Police as Solution to Pacific Junction Tragedy

MONCTON, Jan. 10.—Improper advances to a little girl—that subsequently brought death to four persons—were described by Royal Canadian Mounted Police last night as the solution to the mysterious tragedy of Pacific Junction, an isolated squatters' settlement, 13 miles north of Moncton.

Two youthful brothers, Arthur and Daniel Bannister, were booked on charges of murdering Philip Lake, while their 15-year-old sister, Francis, was taken into custody as material witness.

POLICE START QUIZ

Police investigation begun immediately after a woodcutter stumbled over the body of Mrs. Marshall Ring. Inspector Bird, R.C.M.P., said he had in his possession a statement describing a drinking party at the Lake cabin, which broke suddenly into a fight that brought death to the settler, Mrs. Ring and their two babies.

The brothers were drinking with Lake, when Lake "made advances" to their sister, the statement said, the brothers remonstrated and a fight ensued.

A stick of firewood was hurled by Lake just as the mother came out of her room to intercede. She received the blow on the head, the statement said, and then Arthur threw it back at Lake.

SETS HOUSE AFIRE

The settler collapsed by a coal upsetting an oil lamp and setting fire to their shack, said the inspector. The mother, apparently preparing for bed, fled from the home with her 21-months-old son Jackie, but the father never left the building. His body was found close to where the door had been. No trace was found of the 14-months-old child. Bodies of the woman and her son, who fled the scene, were found in a snowdrift a couple of hundred yards from the ruin.

Terrified by the sudden tragedy, the Bannisters fled. Police eventually learned identity of at least one man attending the party. The arrests followed.

SIR C. CRAVEN UNDER FIRE AT ARMS INQUIRY

Took Attitude the More Munitions in the World the Merrier

By ROGER GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A charge that Sir Charles Craven, high official of the Vickers munitions interests, took an attitude that "the more munitions in the world, the merrier for the world" was made Thursday at the British munitions investigation.

Sir Philip Gibbs, novelist and member of the Royal Commission on private manufacture of arms, made the accusation, adding that he believed Sir Charles regarded with contempt efforts to restrict world armaments.

Sir Charles, in reply, minimized the danger of armament sales, and declared: "I do not agree that armament firms create war."

The commission adjourned until Jan. 22 after questioning Sir Charles, the managing director of Vickers-Armstrong, Ltd., and director of Vickers, Ltd., for the second successive day.

Ten yards of a seawall collapsed at Burnham in Somerset, and water poured through the breach, flooding streets in some sections to a depth of nine feet and disabling the gas works.

At Weston-Super-Mare a concrete promenade was torn up and the sea water flooded the basements of hotels.

Three lifeboats were called out at South Devon, where a small vessel believed to be French, flashed distress signals by a lamp, off the jagged rocks of Bolthead.

Vice-Admiral Sir Humphrey Walwyn and others aboard the steamship Newfoundland were storm-bound in Liverpool harbor last night.

Sir Humphrey sailed Thursday to take up his new duties as Governor of Newfoundland. But high winds and stormy seas prevented the liner from leaving the harbor.

BUILD RAILWAY TO STRONGHOLD

CAIRO, Jan. 10.—Great Britain and Egypt will spend about $550,000 to build a railway between here and Mersa Matruh, key Mediterranean stronghold, it was reported here last night.

Victoria Fears Sea Serpent Has Returned

VICTORIA, Jan. 10.—Victoria residents today discussed the possibility that Cadborosaurus, the amiable sea serpent reputed to have roamed these waters at various times during the past two years, may have returned for another visit.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, and George H. Deane, city school inspector, reported they saw a strange sea monster off Mexicana.

Major Fred Richardson, winner at some time or other of practically all the major rifle shooting prizes in Canada, reported he noticed a strange sea monster disporting itself yesterday in the waters opposite the Victoria Golf Club.

"Caddy" has been reported by various persons during the past two years as being between 15 and 100 feet in length, with a camel-like or horse-like head, and it was reported it moved with an undulating effect. Persons who said they saw the monster this week could give no accurate description of it.

Ottawa Aviation Officials Claim Report Erroneous

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—Civil aviation officials last night said London reports that a Canadian political group contemplated opposing extension of trans-Atlantic air terminals in the United States were erroneous.

They pointed out an agreement reached recently at Washington between representatives of Canada, Great Britain, the United States, the Irish Free State, Imperial Airways and Pan American Airways called for experimental flights started at establishing two trans-Atlantic air routes; one via Newfoundland and Canada, the other via the Azores and Bermuda.

SCIENCE STILL BAFFLED OVER POLIOMYELITIS

By THOS. WAYLING
Exclusive to Edmonton Bulletin

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—Hope that medical science had discovered an inoculation to combat poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) has died down with a report sent out by the United States Public Health Service and received by the Dominion Ministry of Health.

Medical research evolved an inoculation of a powder obtained by giving a monkey poliomyelitis, then drying the spinal cord of the animal and pulverizing it to a powder. This was injected into a number of children and first results indicated a preventive and cure might have been discovered. Since then several of the inoculated children contracted poliomyelitis and the experiments have been stopped.

The incidence of infantile paralysis in Canada last year was not overly heavy. The disease travels round the world in a curious, unknown manner which science has not yet discovered.

Condition Of Archbishop Is Still Critical

HALIFAX, Jan. 10.—"Very slight improvement" was noted last night in the condition of Most Rev. Thomas O'Donnell, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Halifax, who became seriously ill early Thursday.

His condition was still critical and bulletins were being issued from the episcopal residents at two-hour intervals. Prayers of the laity were sought for his recovery.

He was reported in good health last night when he talked to members of St. Mary's cathedral congregation.

Judges, Barristers Wrong For Years

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—They have been wrong. Judges, barristers, lawmakers. For a hundred years they have been wrong. Jean Francois Pouliot, M.P., marched around his office in the House of Commons. He waved a fistfull of printed proofs. "My book," he said. "For sixteen years I have worked on it. I have gone to the original sources and the interpretation of the civil laws as applied to the management of parishes has been all wrong."

Mr. Pouliot's book deals with the relations of church and state in the management of parishes and it will be published shortly.

DOMINION-WIDE BUILDING PLAN BEING STUDIED

Being Submitted by Hon. Charles Stewart and Mervin Brown

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—A Dominion-wide plan to promote building activity and reduce unemployment was studied Thursday by leading Montrealers. The plan is being submitted throughout the country by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, in the former King cabinet, and Mervin Brown, ex-mayor of Medicine Hat, Alta. It is understood to have the approval of Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance.

The plan would make effective use of the Dominion Housing Act and those behind it are united in the "Prosperity Housing Association."

Slum clearance is not included in the scheme which is directly concerned with the building of new houses.

Radio Ban Mixup

WHITEMAN LEADING BAND
BERLIN KERN ROMBERG

Dispute over royalties between eight music firms controlled by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc., and the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers may take many "hit" songs off the radio if a broadcasting ban announced by Warners becomes effective. Should the ban go into effect, Paul Whiteman, popular orchestra leader, would lose his theme song. Composers Irving Berlin, Jerome Kern and Sigmund Romberg, members of the A.S.C.A.P., which will continue to permit broadcasting of its music, also are employees of Warner Brothers firms which ban their music from the air, and will thus be central figures in what may develop into a long litigation procedure.

HOWSON CHALLENGES PREMIER ABERHART TO COME INTO OPEN

NEW AIR-RAIL EXPRESS PLAN IS ANNOUNCED

To Cover U.S. and Have Provisions for Canadian Facilities

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—A unified air and air-mail express service covering the United States, with provision for Canadian facilities, and extending across the Pacific and to South America was announced Thursday by L. O. Head, president of the Railway Express agency following a meeting with representatives of interested air lines.

Twenty of the 23 domestic air lines in the United States and Pan-American Airways have signed contracts with the Railway Express agency for the service which is to be inaugurated Feb. 1. A door-to-door pick-up and delivery service is contemplated at the 218 cities in the United States and Canada with a population of 40,000,000 and through the Pan-American Airways system, with 32 foreign countries.

TWO JAPANESE FLIERS SHOT

MOSCOW, Jan. 10. — A Soviet news dispatch from Khasarbarovsk last night reported two Japanese who landed in an airplane near the Manchukuan border were wounded and captured Thursday.

The dispatch said one of the Japanese had attacked a peasant with a pistol. In the ensuing fight, the report said, the peasant wounded one Japanese and took him to the nearby town of Pokrovka.

Two soldiers approaching the plane later were fired on with a pistol by the other Japanese, the dispatch asserted. The two soldiers allegedly subdued him.

ENTENTE BALKS AUSTRIA PLAN

PARIS, Jan. 10.—The Little Entente will refuse to "bargain" with Austria over a reported plan to make Vice-Admiral Horthy von Starhemberg regent, it was said last night in diplomatic circles.

Fear the Prince regency would be a "blind" for the eventual return of the Archduke Otto to the throne is expressed by Little Entente diplomats.

Stewart Post To Be Named Soon

OTTAWA, Jan. 10—Appointment of Hon. Charles Stewart, former Liberal minister of the interior and premier of Alberta, as Canadian chairman of the international joint commission, is expected to be announced within a week or two. He will succeed Charles Magrath, who resigned some time ago. Two members of the commission, Sir William Hearst, former premier of Ontario, and George W. Kyte, will remain in office.

Wraps Veil Of Secrecy On Actions

Lashing out at the secrecy and star-chamber methods being employed in connection with the meeting of Edmonton business interests on Friday evening, to hear Premier William Aberhart and Hon. Ernest C. Manning, minister of trade and industry discuss the "just price" a meeting from which the press will be barred, W. R. Howson, K.C., Alberta Liberal leader, in addressing the Liberal Study group at its inaugural meeting of the season on Thursday evening challenged the premier to come out in the open to transact his business and remove the veil of secrecy surrounding his movements.

Mr. Howson attacked Premier Aberhart for the notation at the end of the letter advising business men of the meeting, in which secrecy was requested and the note added that any information on the meeting was to be given out by the Premier.

"Why be afraid of the press?" asked Mr. Howson. "Why be afraid of the light of publicity? Why be afraid to trust the people to read the papers? Why be afraid of those who trusted you?"

Continuing, Mr. Howson asked: "What is this meeting for? It is to fix a just price. Yes, this just price is to be fixed in the dark, in secret. You are all consumers and yet you are told that you can't attend this meeting and that the press won't be let in to tell you what happens. Mr. Aberhart states that the meeting will be closed to the press.

WOULD GO IN BODY

"If the consumers had their interests at heart, they would go in a body and ask what it was proposed to bring in."

Mr. Howson, in continuing the discussion on the secrecy of the occasion, declared that "No public business ought to be transacted in the dark. The consumers have been told that not only will they not be allowed to attend, but that the press will not be admitted to inform them as to what is happening.

"Justice is the people never came out of the dark. Why discuss prices of such commodities as socks, meat and others with consumers shut out and you are told that the Premier will give out the information. I would like to know where he gets the right to do this. The ministers are public servants. The consumers are vitally interested and this is the first step being taken to establish a just price."

SCORES PREMIER'S ADDRESS

Mr. Howson scored Premier Aberhart for his address of last Sunday.

"Sunday I listened to a political sermon last Sunday. I was amazed to hear the first citizen of this province say he would not trust the press and that newspapermen would not enter heaven. This was a pretty statement for a preacher to make," said Mr. Howson.

Urging the study group to continue its deliberations and to discuss as many public questions as possible in as broad a manner as possible, Mr. Howson said that the group could do much toward improving public knowledge of public affairs. This increased knowledge was vital if Alberta was to be saved from being the laughing stock of the Dominion.

"Are we in continue to be the laughing stock of the rest of Canada?" asked Mr. Howson. "I have recently returned from a trip to eastern Canada. As soon as I registered at my hotel several people saw I was from Edmonton, smiles lit up their faces. They asked me if I came from the Province of Aberhart, if I had yet received my basic dividend and what Social Credit was," he said.

Brief addresses were given by C. Gerald O'Connor, M.L.A. and George H. Van Allen, K.C., M.L.A.

VALUE OF STUDY GROUP

Mr. O'Connor stressed the value of such a study group and congratulated the members on the start. The study group had been of inestimable value before the last election and could continue to be a vital factor.

Mr. Van Allen suggested that much time be devoted to the study of banking and credit. Much time could be profitably spent on these items, he said.

Edward C. Fisher, who acted as chairman of the last year's group with such success, was again named to head the group this year.

The meeting stood with bowed heads in silence for a minute as a tribute to one of its members, T. H. Cooper, who died recently. Mr. Currie, always interested in public affairs, once contested the Alexandra provincial riding.

Mrs. Alex Bonneau moved a motion that each discussion be carried on by a group of five and that each address be limited to ten minutes.

It was decided that at the next meeting the study subject would be the "Freedom of the Press" and that Clayton McLennan would head the group. Two weeks' hence the subject will be "Credit." Three weeks' hence the annual meeting of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal association is being held.

Lt. Col. George B. McLeod, Arthur Leonard and others took part in the informal discussions.

CONSUMER NOT CONSIDERED BY MOTOR MAKERS

Interested in Maintaining Advantages for Themselves is Charge

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—Reduction of motor car tariff rates to 15 per cent on all cars was proposed before the tariff board today by A. O. Thorne, representing the Canadian Importers Association.

Such a rate of duty, Mr. Thorne said, would enable Canadian manufacturers to charge $100 more per car than American manufacturers. It would mean a lower price to the Canadian public due to health competition with the United States. It would mean an increased sale of cars and more employment in the servicing trade.

Motor manufacturers now before the tariff board appeared more interested in maintaining advantages for themselves than in working out ways of offering cars to the Canadian public at lower prices, Wishart Robertson, representative of the government of the three Maritime provinces, charged before the board Thursday.

"The impression I have after sitting here for two weeks," said Mr. Robertson, "is that in the main, with one or two notable exceptions, the motor trade is not interested to get out of the differential of Canadian motor car prices over American prices, and is giving precious little consideration to the consumer's interests."

The real purpose of the inquiry was to seek means of lowering the prices of cars in Canada.

NO COMPLETE FIGURES

Despite repeated requests, he continued, counsel for the provincial governments had been unable to get from the manufacturers authoritative and complete figures on comparative prices of cars in Canada and in the United States.

The motor car industry with its modern plants and its high wages contrasted sharply with other industries in Canada, said Mr. Robertson.

U.S. Livestock Group Condemns Canada-U.S. Pact

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 10. — The American National Livestock Association has condemned the Canadian tariff agreement as unfair to the cattle industry.

The action was taken last night in a resolution heading a long list of recommendations adopted as the organization's annual convention neared a close.

The pact in the Canadian tariff on importation of cattle was assailed as "establishing a dangerous precedent that will encourage other nations to make similar demands."

Dog Guards Body

STRATFORD, Ont., Jan. 10. — With a dog sled and dog guard, the body of James H. Stewart, about 55 years old, was found Thursday at the rear of his grocery store. The dog was a bullet wound in the mouth and a rifle lay nearby. Stewart had lived alone for many years and so far as known had no near relatives.

Physical examinations of air line pilots are being made every 90 days. It is not necessary, however, for an unemployed pilot to take the examination to keep his scheduled air-transport rating active.

While Bombs Burst — Roaring Over Horizon — War's Aftermath

While bombs burst around them, survivors of the Dessye raid administered to the wounded. Here Major de Frainpont, Belgian advisor to Haile Selassie, gets his wounded arm bandaged.

As Il Duce's bombers roared across the horizon, the plume of smoke that rose into Africa's sunshine over Dessye symbolized the "success" of their raid. The charred timbers of the smouldering house stand like a skeleton to haunt those who witnessed hospital buildings as well as native huts go up in flames, and heard the cries of the wounded rise above the thunder of bursting bombs.

War's aftermath was death for these two victims of the Dessye raid, who lie in a shallow trench awaiting burial. But Haile Selassie, the real target for the bombs, lives on to guide his country's defence.

LAWYERS ASK REPEAL DEBT, FARMER ACTS

Compulsory Insurance For Autoists Urged by Law Society

Members of the Law Society of Alberta, after considerable debate regarding the exact wording of their resolution, unanimously agreed Thursday afternoon to ask the government to repeal the Debt Adjustment act and the Agricultural Stabilization act.

While President H. H. Parlee, K.C., who forced the issue on the representatives of the legal profession, smiled happily, the lawyers added a clause to the effect that if it is impossible to repeal the acts the government is urged to take immediate steps to amend them, "junking" some of the features which have proved particularly irksome to the profession.

Final session of the annual meeting, which started late, developed into a race against time as members hurriedly chanted through legislation so that they could attend the reception in the Macdonald hotel at 4.30 p.m.

DIGNITARIES THERE

Hon. J. W. Hugill, K.C., provincial attorney-general, Mayor "Joe" Clarke, K.C., and other dignitaries were in attendance when Ronald Maitland created widespread discussion by advocating compulsory public liability insurance for drivers of motor vehicles.

Maitland, young, tweed-clad and extremely lucid verbally, graphically described the plight of unfortunate accident victims who discover that the automobile which has struck them down isn't covered by insurance. In many cases the driver has no worldly assets and the victim is faced with the necessity of paying his own hospital bills without any possibility of reimbursement.

"Lawsuits in cases such as this are worthless," said one solicitor.

Mr. Maitland pointed out that there is compulsory insurance in England, but the additional protection for motorists doesn't lead to reckless driving. In fact, the ratio of accidents to population is lower than in the United States, where accident insurance is a matter of choice.

LOGICAL STEP

"The logical step is to compel all drivers and automobile owners to carry insurance in the form now provided for in the Insurance Act," Mr. Maitland said.

Neil D. Maclean, K.C., also took part in the discussion, coming out strongly in favor of compulsory insurance for all drivers and pointing out experiences with which he had come in contact where innocent persons suffered damages at the hands of reckless motorists, but were unable to collect either for medical bills or other damages because the motorists were financially irresponsible and lawsuits under the circumstances would only have resulted in additional expenses without being able to collect anything as a result.

Sidney B. Woods, K.C., also favored the compulsory insurance idea and following a wide discussion moved that the Bar Association go on record as favoring the idea. The resolution was seconded by Mr. Maclean and was carried unanimously.

Report on the operation of the Needy Litigants Committees was delivered by J. Boyd McBride, K.C., who fathered the legislation which led to the inauguration of this extremely valuable work. A. B. Harvey, son of the Chief Justice of the appellate division, supreme court, brought up the matter of obtaining discounts from the King's Printer on the purchase of statutes.

L. Y. Cairns, K.C., introduced a motion of the Medicine Hat Bar Association dealing with the fixing of a legal tariff for work performed under the Debt Adjustment Act. It was referred to the Benchers who will consider it when they discuss the whole question of legal costs.

BABE DISPLAY

On his last appearance in the presidential chair, Mr. Parlee gave a rare display of tactful but forceful chairmanship when he obtained an adjournment of the discussion of reinstatement of the office of Master-in-Chambers. Early in the afternoon he suggested that the solicitors refer this matter to the Benchers, but the lawyers insisted that it be discussed at the session.

Germany Finds Secret Of Keeping Prosperity On Empty Treasury

BLACKS CLAIM VICTORIES ON 2 WAR FRONTS

Italian Invaders Said to be Retreating From Tembien Hills

By the Canadian Press

Ethiopia claimed victories on both war fronts yesterday while unconfirmed reports told of desertions among Italian troops in northern Italy.

An official announcement in Addis Ababa said an engagement involving more than 100,000 troops near Dolo ended with the Italians repulsed while the invaders were said to be retreating "precipitously" from the Tembien mountains.

31 ITALIANS KILLED

Harar also had word of an Ethiopian victory in the south. It was that troops under General Mere captured Karanle in the Webbe Shibeli valley, killing 31 of the enemy.

Reports in Belgrade told of widespread desertions of Italian troops across the border into Yugoslavia and Austria. Rome officially denied reports of mutinies and desertions in the north.

ITALY UNPERTURBED

Italy professed not to be perturbed because both Britain and France are going to move important fleet units shortly in and near the Mediterranean. It was disclosed she has troops stationed near the French border although it was denied there had been any unusual troop movements in that region.

A report received in Egypt said Italians machine-gunned and bombed an Egyptian ambulance unit on the southern front but there were no casualties.

Lion Of Judah Vision Seen

Copyright, 1936, by Havas News Agency

ADDIS ABABA, Jan. 10.—Superstitious natives last night discussed a vision of the Lion of Judah in the skies, which they said portended a glorious victory for Ethiopia over the Italian invaders.

Believers in the supernatural who saw an eclipse of the moon last night said that immediately after the eclipse they had seen Ethiopia's sacred guardian, the Lion of Judah, stalking wrathfully across the heavens, with claws bared in an angry threat of annihilation for the enemies of Emperor Haile Selassie.

The eclipse itself was believed by the natives to be a sign from heaven that Ethiopia would triumph over Italy.

British Columbia Bar Elects Vance

VICTORIA, B.C., Jan. 10.—Earl James Vance, president of the Alma Mater Society of the University of British Columbia in 1932, was called to the British Columbia bar Thursday and admitted by Mr. Justice Taylor as a solicitor. He is a brother of Larry Vance, of Edmonton.

Vance was a law student in the office of General J. A. Clark at Vancouver, and his brother, Mrs. R. A. MacDonald, lives in that city. His mother, his step-father and his grandfather, Miss Florence Nightingale Vance, travelled from Vancouver for the ceremony.

Mr. Parlee did not press his point, but said that the matter would come up later in the afternoon.

As the clock nudged 4:30 p.m. and the members grew impatient to attend the reception, Parlee once again suggested that the Master-in-Chambers question be referred to the Benchers. Weary solicitors assented and the president, grinning, quickly adjourned annual meeting.

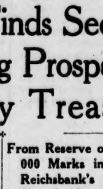

Mr. and Mrs. Parlee and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. S. Kane received 200 members of the profession as well as their wives at the hotel.

From Reserve of 796,800,000 Marks in 1932 the Reichsbank's Gold Has Shrunk Alarmingly.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—Germany appears to have discovered the secret of maintaining prosperity on an empty treasury.

That is, the Reich's coffers are not empty as far as pegged paper money is concerned. The country is full of it. Also there is silver coin in abundance.

Bruening

But gold is almost wanting. From a gold reserve of 796,800,000 marks on hand when Chancellor Heinrich Bruening and his cabinet resigned in 1932, the Reichsbank's gold has shrunk to 88,277,000 marks. The Reichsbank's reserves in foreign exchange have declined from 137,000,000 marks in Bruening's day to 5,200,000 in December, 1935. In other words, the coverage for Germany's currency dropped from 27.4 per cent in 1932 to 2.1 per cent in 1935.

Yet Germany outwardly continues to prosper. The reichsmark continues to cost 40 cents.

We might as well admit that all our economic theories have been overthrown by what is taking place in Hitler's Third Reich," a former high official of the now defunct Social Democratic party of Germany and a leader in the late Reichstag admitted.

BEST BACKING IS LABOR

"We used to think that money has value only if backed up by some tangible material thing of constant value, such as gold. Hitler has decided that the best backing for Germany's currency is the labor power of her people. With Germany now about 90 per cent self-sufficient, he will probably get away with a managed currency for a long time to come."

When Hitler took over the government on Jan. 30, 1933, he decided his first task was that of getting work for the jobless. By methods often of an unusually rigorous kind he managed within less than three years to reduce the number on relief from 6,000,000 to 2,500,000.

DRAIN RESERVES

To Hitler it seemed better to drain the economic reserves of the country temporarily than to let human labor-power go to waste. Hitler was convinced, too, that expenditures on pageants, festivals, and mass demonstrations are justified because thereby money is kept circulating.

Hand in hand with the government's vast civil spending program has gone the rearmament of Germany at a pace unparalleled in the world. One cannot drive afield without finding new army barracks, new military aviation fields, new rifle practice grounds, new hangars, new fortifications. Purveyors of army goods and utensils of all kinds have been and are working overtime.

WHAT IS SECRET?

What, if any, is Hitler's secret? For one thing, it is apparent to every observer that socialization on a large scale is taking place in Germany. Money is being spread wide. Gone are the days of the multi-millionaire. Reichsbank president and minister of economics Hjalmar Schacht in a speech Nov. 30 revealed the fact that there are not even 45,000 Germans today (out of a population of about 66,000,000) with incomes over $8,000 annually.

Hitler has insisted that, if possible, no capital shall lie idle. Hence when he discovered that, for instance, the small savings banks had accumulated relatively large cash reserves, he induced them to loan 500,000,000 reichsmarks to the government for job creation.

When he discovered a similar situation with reference to insurance companies, these, too, were prevailed upon to disgorge 500,000,000 marks.

Promulgation Of Pact With Poland Soon

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—The next step of the Mackenzie King government to widen trade channels is expected to be promulgation of the agreement with Poland which was signed at Ottawa last summer but never put in force. Advices reaching the department of external affairs, it was learned Thursday, indicate early action to secure ratification.

Signed in Ottawa July 3 last by Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett and Hon. R. B. Hanson, then respectively prime minister and minister of trade and commerce, the treaty already has passed through all legislative stages here. It was signed on behalf of Poland by Dr. Jerzy Adam Kiewicz, Polish consul general.

The treaty accords mutual most favored nation treatment and special tariffs on a list of commodities of both countries as well as guaranteeing the rights of Polish nationals in Canada and Canadians in Poland.

POLICY SWITCH ON WAR LOANS IS DISCLOSED

Attributed to "Leverage" Brought to Bear by J. P. Morgan and Co.

By RICHARD L. TURNER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10. — An abrupt switch in Woodrow Wilson's wartime neutrality policy that permitted huge loans to allied nations was disclosed Thursday by the United States Senate munitions committee and attributed — amid heated denials — to "leverage" brought to bear upon the administration by J. P. Morgan and Co.

With the head of that famous financial house expostulating that no such connection was to be inferred, the committee produced a memorandum from Wilson to Robert Lansing, then secretary of state, giving tacit approval of the shift. The charge of "leverage" followed and was denied.

Committee attention was given at another point to what Morgan described as a "campaign of education" to put across a $100,000,000 war loan that was offered to the American public.

"Now you began this propaganda —" interrupted Senator Clark (D.-Mo.).

"Not propaganda, but education, I say," Morgan shot back.

BROADCASTING PUBLIC

Cablegrams introduced in evidence, sent by the Morgan partners in New York to those in London, during negotiations on floating the loan, referred to the necessity for "educating" the public.

"Since there is no impetus to purchase, the people have got to be urged," said one such cable.

The climax of the day's examination came when Senator Clark charged the Morgans withdrew the support of the foreign exchange market to influence administration opinion on war loans.

"You are indulging the fallacy of saying, 'afterward and therefore because'," Morgan gruffly shouted at him, losing for the first time the amiable composure that has characterized his appearance before the committee.

Morgan Blamed German Propaganda

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10—J. P. Morgan once blamed German propaganda, or the "idiocy of newspapermen," for doubts raised in the United States during the great war as to the ability of the belligerent nations to repay loans from America.

He blushed Thursday when a wartime cablegram containing his view was read into the record of the Senate munitions investigation.

"I didn't know newspapermen as well at that time as I do now," he said.

All the debtor European countries except Finland are now in default on their war debt payments to the United States government.

Oil Price Boost

TULSA, Okla., Jan. 10.—Oil's first important price boost since 1933—five to 15 cents on the barrel—swept out of Texas Thursday across the entire mid-continent field. Many purchasers in Oklahoma and Kansas met it. Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico shared in the higher price benefits.

MISS MARGARET IS VERY HET UP OVER VANCOUVER VACATION TIME JUBILEE

"Everything's been done before," warbled Jean Harlow in her latest filmusical "Reckless"; and fifty million radio sets still echo her notes.

But then, the blonde Hollywood heat wave probably never met Marguerite deGuesseme, walking, talking bullet-upper for Vancouver's Golden Jubilee celebration, who blew into Edmonton Friday morning and presented herself to reporters who queued up outside her Macdonald hotel room door, curious to see the publicity manageress-hostess of Harrison Hot Springs hotel and spa.

Vancouver's ambassador-at-large signed the hotel register as "Miss Margaret," but "Who's Who" will probably list her as Canada's first Belgian refugee. Canada's first woman president of a board of trade and the dominion's best known hostess.

SHE'S "HEAD MAN"

"Head man" of the Harrison Hot Springs Spa, Miss Margaret was at one time connected with the Canadian Pacific hotel chain, is Canadian vice-president of the Hostess Association of America, an executive of the Canadian Hotelmen's Association, is an active member of many clubs, is well known by Hollywood's movie stars, business tycoons, Oriental potentates, European royalty and leaders in art, science and letters.

Mayor C. J. McGeer, dynamo in Vancouver's civic administration made Miss Margaret advance man for the Golden Jubilee to be celebrated by the coast metropolis from May 24 to September 7, 1936.

"Everything's been done before," said Miss Margaret when The Bulletin was admitted to her room, "but in Vancouver it hasn't. We're going to do things out there this summer that have never been done before anywhere."

Swept by a verbal storm into a chair, The Bulletin was treated to a feast of press agentry seldom before loosed in Edmonton.

AND WHAT A SHOW

"We're putting on a fourteen week show that would make Barnum look like a piker," chirped Miss Margaret as she launched into a 30-minute fan-fare of the Golden Jubilee. "We're staging a coast-to-coast aerial derby for a stake of $25,000 in aviation events; we're having an Old Timers' week when all Vancouver will strut in hoop skirts, bustles, leg o' mutton sleeves, tight trousers, top hats and beards; we're planning a carnival week that'll have the city waiting knee-deep in confetti and streamers; we're showing a navy week with so many battle ships the League of Nations will think there's war in the Pacific; we're promising a sports week that will make the Olympic games look like a chess tournament; we're . . .

Dazzled and dazed by the splendor of Miss Margaret's spiel, the scribe scurried to cover behind his copy paper and timorously asked if there was any prepared publicity available.

"So you're only luke-warm," groaned Miss Margaret as she leapt over to her trunk and dragged out armfuls of printed publicity. "So you want your news spoon-fed, eh?"

IT'LL BE BEE-E-O-O-T-IFUL

"No," returned the newsman coming up for air, "but how about the fan dancers? Sally Rand maybe? Or beautiful girls?"

"Sally Rand, why she's old stuff," scoffed Miss Margaret. "But we're going to have so many fan dancers you'll think all our girls have been raised on ostrich farms."

"And beautiful bathing girls?"

"Listen carefully," warned Miss Margaret sotto voce. "We're staging Shakespeare's 'Midsummer Night's Dream' in Stanley park, like it's never staged before. Two hundred be-e-e-o-otiful girls and colored floodlights and symphony orchestra under the stars. Los Angeles music to furnish the melody, and a parade of flowers and 300 lovely maidens and dancers and street dancing and . . .

"Any real colonies in Stanley park planned?"

"Our girls are so beautiful we could dress 'em up in flour sacks and they'd still make your heart go pitter patter," rapid fired Miss Margaret. "The beauties in the 'Midsummer Night' fairy ballet will be clothed—we got to leave something to your imagination."

The Golden Jubilee management is arranging with the Music Corporation of America for "name" orchestras headed by Duke Ellington and Guy Lombardo.

"The best of everything," promises Miss Margaret.

Six weeks' horse racing—a manufacturers' week, Canada's Pacific Exhibition in Hastings park, Empire week, military week, community week, auto caravan week, music and drama week, hinterland week, and a three-day Eucharistic Congress.

For 14 weeks, claims advance-man Margaret, and her program already in print bears her out and then some, Vancouver will celebrate all over the city. The Golden Jubilee will probably be the grandest holiday that Canada has ever enjoyed.

Miss Margaret, after satisfying herself that Edmonton and northern Alberta knows all about the Vancouver Jubilee, will entrain for points east and, in the course of the next few weeks, will cover the entire Dominion and the United States spreading the good word of the forthcoming celebrations which make "colossal," "gigantic," "stupendous," "gargantuan," "prodigious" look like two-bit words.

Value of the 210,924 church edifices in the United States is placed at $3,838,500,610.

How I Keep My Figure

By HELEN TWELVETREES

Helen Twelvetrees

MY FORMULA is a round of golf every day when I'm not working in a picture, and a game of tennis every morning before breakfast when I am at the studio all day.

Before the advent of "Twig" Woody, my two-year-old son, I never worried at all about a few extra pounds put on in between films. Just as soon as I started working, the extra worry and the strenuous hours, automatically kept the scales down. But having a baby and resuming work soon afterward means great care of the feminine curves without undue strain or dieting.

I have always been very much opposed to women wanting to partake of outdoor sports which made them muscular and masculine. It is only within the last six months that I have become a golf addict. And now I am such an enthusiast and I feel so grand and fit after an hour or two hours striding round on the springy turf with the invigorating breezes blowing in from the sea that I have thrown all my old opposition to the winds and I'm a heartily endorse the idea of all women possessing a pair of slacks.

BLAST WRECKS TOWN HALL: 3 PERSONS DEAD

Half a Dozen More Injured as Fire Completes Destruction

PENDLETON, Ind., Jan. 10. — A terrific blast in the basement of the town hall of Pendleton last night while the town board was in session killed at least three persons, injuring half a score more and destroyed the town's fire fighting equipment.

The fire, raging unchecked until apparatus could be sent from Anderson, eight miles away, completed destruction of the building.

The known dead were: Frank Wapenik, 34, of East Chicago, Ind., and two unidentified men believed to be transients seeking shelter from the cold. Town officials believed the bodies of other transients known to have been in the building were in the ruins.

Nine injured, including the five town board members, the town clerk and the town marshal, were taken to hospital for treatment.

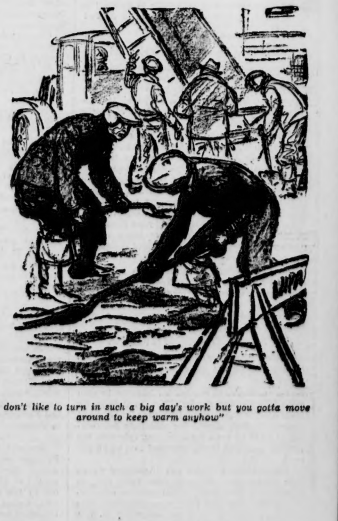

The blast was believed to have been caused by two men searching in the basement with lighted matches for the glasses one of them had dropped.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"I don't like to turn in such a big day's work but you gotta move around to keep warm anyhow"

It has been said before of George Clark that "he combines splendid art ability with the characteristic of a trained reporter."

It is hard to improve on that appraisal. Certainly those intimate little views of humanity he calls "SIDE GLANCES" are a happy blend of keen observation and understanding and of genuine art. They have humor and pathos; often a tear lurks just behind the smile — which, after all, is the way of life.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 10

THEY JUST WANT IT?

With one exception, Canadian manufacturers do not know what it costs to build automobiles in the United States, nor what they sell for.

So their lawyers told the tariff commission, which has been listening to protests against the reduction of the tariff on American-made cars. Learned counsel would not even hazard a guess to go on with.

But if the Canadian makers do not know these things, at least approximately, how do they know they need any protection at all? Perhaps cars are dearer in the United States than in Canada, for all the legal keepers of the manufacturers' information would admit?

Encouraged by the skepticism of lawyers representing seven provinces, the chairman of the commission also evinced some wonderment at this open admission of ignorance in a quarter where it was not to be looked for. He told the manufacturers' lawyers they had better try to find out what it is they are asking protection against.

PUTTING CEREMONY INTO BUSINESS

A motorist who finds his tank empty after the "dead line" hour may hereafter get some gasoline in Edmonton, if he can find a selling place that is open and can persuade a police officer at headquarters that he has "urgent need" of it.

Doctors called out on emergency cases, late callers who find the siphoners have been around, and other local drivers, are the parties most likely to be inconvenienced by the ceremonial procedure.

The out-of-town motorist does not need to be worried much about. He will see that his tank is full before he ventures into Edmonton in the evening hours, filling up at the last outside station on the way in.

Perhaps next summer the odd tourist will be stranded if he arrives late. But he will not likely come again, and he is sure to spread the news when he meets other wanderers headed this way.

THE "DECISIONS" ARE MADE

The naval conferees have resumed their disagreement, after holidaying over the season of Peace and Good Will. Only to be told the Japanese delegates were "unprepared to discuss other plans" until the question of parity had been settled.

They have already made plain there is only one way in which that question can be settled; by admitting Japan's right to build a fleet as large as that of Britain or the United States.

Those two points having been decided, the delegates might as well disperse and go home if they have anything important to do there. There is no prospect that they can achieve anything worth while by sticking around London to be told over and over again that Japan will do just what it pleases, with or without consent of the other powers.

Another conference—with Japan left out—devoted to forming a defensive alliance among the other four of the "big five," would hold promise of accomplishing something toward assured peace and world security.

"SACRED"—SOMETIMES

Those "sacred" money contracts are peculiar things. Sometimes there isn't anything sacred about them.

For example, if any reader happens to own some bonds of the Border Cities, in Ontario, he may dismiss any notion that they mean what they say. They don't. He will only get two-thirds what he gave for them, and only half the interest promised if the promised rate was 6 per cent.

Those cities a while ago threatened to go into bankruptcy. To save them from that, in appearance, they were placed under a commission, a sort of official body of undertakers. The chairman sent out word the other day he proposes to write off $13,422,943 of the bond debt of $40,197,237. Also that 3 per cent will be the interest rate hereafter. One-third of the debt and one-half the interest is thus "paid" by a scratch of the pen.

Yet when Mayor McGeer a year ago proposed to reduce the rate on Vancouver's bonds so the city could pay the principal when it falls due, the bond dealers' association sent Mr. Bradshaw all the way from Toronto to tell him how wicked he was.

And when Mayor Clarke proposed to suspend payments into Edmonton's sinking fund for a couple of years with the same object in view, some of the aldermen nearly had apoplexy.

Bankruptcy, or even a threat to go into bankruptcy, it seems, is a "wash" process that removes the sanctity from bond contracts. To ask bond-holders to compromise on the interest rate so as to make their principal secure is a high crime and misdemeanor. But to put a city under a receiver, called by some other name, and let him write off a third of the principal and half the interest rate, is all right.

Edmonton, by the way, had some of those Border Cities bonds on hand some time ago, bought as a gilt edge investment of sinking funds. The taxpayer will be interested to know that if the city is still holding them he is out of pocket one-third of their face value, plus half the interest. But on the bonds he owes, he must continue to pay interest in full, and one hundred per cent of the principal when due.

It is a great system—for encouraging bankruptcy.

Editorial: In proof of the assertion that the grant of land at Batoche to the Prince Albert colonization company had nothing to do with the rebellion, the supporters of the ministry point to the fact that not a single settler has been dispossessed of his land. True, no doubt. The rebellion whatever harm it may have done beyond doubt made that impossible. Here in Edmonton, however, where no rebellion took place, settlers have not been so fortunate. At least one settler within our pet colonization tract has been notified by the government that the fractional section upon which his house and improvements were placed years before the colonization company was organized or thought of, is the property of the company and if he desires to retain possession he must arrange with the company.

Exports to Canada totalled $3,411,400 as against $82,189,233. There has consequently a decline of $377,000 in the value of imports from Canada; on the other hand, Belgian exports to the Dominion advanced by $1,222,167 in value. The balance of trade, although still favourable to Canada, declined from $3,828,767 in the first nine months of 1934 to $2,229,600 in the corresponding period of 1935, or by $1,599,167. There was, therefore, a substantial regression in imports from Canada and a striking advance in Belgian exports to the Dominion, while the difference in the balance of trade has been reduced sensibly.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

The world does advance.

Some Townsend Plan workers in Ohio have unearthed a record of a minute passed in the year 1628 by the School Board of Lancaster, Ohio. Apparently a railroad promoter had wanted to use the schoolhouse for a meeting to discuss building a local railroad, for the minute reads:

J. S. Cowper

"You are welcome to use the school room to debate all proper questions, but such things as railroads and telegraph are impossibilities and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the word of God about them. If God had designed that his intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 15 miles an hour by steam, he would have told them through his holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to hell."

* * *

I'm indebted to a reader of this column for a copy of the December 2, 1935, issue of the Townsend Weekly from which the above is taken. As the objective of the Townsendites is to achieve a circulation of five millions for the Weekly—which is printed on newsprint and sells at $2 per year subscription—I can well understand where Dr. Townsend and his mentor, R. E. Clements, get the $2000 a week profit, referred to in the charges of their former publicity director, Frank Peterson.

The Weekly carries a big range of advertising of interest to old folk, laxatives, pile relief, diabetes treatments, liquor cures, liver tablets, remedies for night rising, sore legs, epilepsy, eczema, ruptures, deafness, rheumatism, arthritis, sciatica and sinus trouble.

Most hopeful signs of all, are the several ads directed to the old boys, for "youthful vigor" and "rejuvenation." One outfit headed by a Mr. Wolf as president offers to keep the old chaps fit and young and "revitalized" for the cut rate price of $4.85 (regular price $12). And if all these fail there's a funeral home run by the President of Townsend Club No. 3, which advertises "The Kindly Service—Credit Arrangement, Confidence. 31 years of service."

Wonder was that what Congressman John H. Tolan had in mind in the peroration of his address on the Townsend Plan over Station KSFO. After referring to Lincoln, to his aged mother, "the thousands of American boys sleeping their eternal sleep beneath the soil of Flanders Field" and to his intimacy with God, the Congressman concluded:

"Keep on organizing as shown by the great National Townsend convention in Chicago and then this mighty God-like movement sweeping and sweeping through-out every nook and corner of United States, will soon be enacted into law and the prayers of millions will be answered and the white light of humanity will burn in this country as never before."

Don't be surprised at anything the Townsend Plan does when the vote comes in United States. Two hundred dollars a month is eight times as good an argument as $25 a month.

Pity that the "Retire at Birth" plan which I detailed yesterday is so late in getting under way. None of these plans clash with another. What a wonderful world it would be, if the "Retire at Birth" plan, Social Credit and the Townsend Plan could each be brought to pass. Then each person would get $50 a month for the first 20 years of life, a bonus of $20,000 at the age of twenty, from $25 to $75 a month from twenty-one till the age of sixty, and then $200 a month pension till death.

Yet I suppose there would still be grumblers and malcontents.

* * *

Some of the medical profession protest the word "rejuvenation," on the ground that it is misleading. They would substitute the word "reactivating." They think the word "rejuvenation" is unfortunate, as youth is something that cannot be recaptured by any of the present "rejuvenation" operations or treatments.

Economics underlie most of our morals. It isn't difficult to see how popular and proper rejuvenation operations will become when the old get only $20 a month from sixty until death, on the simple condition that they spend their monthly allowance before thirty days are over.

Poor Lindbergh! A few years ago people were praying that he would be able safely and alone to accomplish the cross-Atlantic flight—most of them unaware that two young English flyers had made the crossing ten years before.

Then came fame and adulation, riches and honor, marriage to a multi-millionaire banker's daughter, and the building of a country home to house his wife and child and self. Then came the tragedy of the kidnapping and killing of his child, since when he has known no peace of mind and no privacy. Across the ocean he once had flown to fame, he travelled a couple of weeks ago on a small cargo boat, seeking at sea and abroad privacy for himself and wife and safety for his second son.

And now comes Jafsie, the serio-comic megalomaniac retired school principal who jumped into the limelight of the Lindbergh kidnapping and the Hauptman trial, in his passion for publicity. Do you think Jafsie is going to take a back seat with the Lindberghs out of the country. No sir! Here's an ad from "Variety," the theatrical magazine:

JAFSIE—Dr. John F. Condon of the Lindbergh kidnapping case. Now available for personal appearances in vaudeville or motion picture theatres.

Most enigmatic, colorful and widely publicized personage in America.

Has already played to terrific grosses at theatres in Boston and Lynn, Mass. Apply Jafsie, etc.

Wotta man! Wotta nation! No wonder poor Lindbergh fled to Europe before Jafsie launched his career as a vaudeville trouper, seeking the last handclap and the last dollar out of the tragedy of the Lindbergh kidnapping.

*STUFFED BEEF ROLLS: Select a round steak of medium thickness, remove all fat and gristle, and cut into pieces about four inches in diameter. On each piece place a mound of the following dressing: Slice and slightly toast the desired amount of real wholewheat bread or wholewheat muffins. Break into bits and moisten with milk. Add diced celery, minced ripe olives, ground roasted peanuts and seedless raisins, adding the quantities to suit your own taste. Mix all together by tossing about with a fork, being careful not to add too much milk —only enough to hold ingredients together.

Roll each piece of meat around the dressing and fasten with toothpicks, place on grill and brown under, or fry them into heavy pan (such as iron skillet or Dutch oven) with a small amount of boiling water, cover tightly and let simmer for an hour over a slow fire. Add a little cold water from time to time as needed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. I. G. S. writes: "I am troubled by large red blotches which appear on my skin and itch intensely. They disappear quickly. What could they be?"

ANSWER: Judging from your description, you probably have hives or nettle rash.

QUESTION: Martha L. inquires: "I have spells of dizziness, a coated tongue, and have bilious attacks. Is there anything I can do for relief?"

ANSWER: It is unwise for me to attempt to diagnose your case by mail and I suggest that what you need is a good diagnosis, following a thorough examination. Your symptoms might be caused by liver trouble, by a sluggish gall bladder, or by auto-intoxication. An improvement should follow the use of a better diet, an increased intestinal elimination, and a moderate amount of exercise. However, the doctor who examines you will provide you with specific instructions, suited to your individual requirements. The remedy which you mention in your letter is given for the purpose of bringing about a copious elimination for the large intestine—it is not expected to have any direct effect on the liver and gall bladder.

QUESTION: R. E. O. wants to know: "How about wine with meals?"

ANSWER: Claret, sauterne and sherry may be taken with a protein meal or just before the meal.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the mechanics of health in plain, easily understandable language.

A limited supply is on hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.00. Just address The Bulletin.

If it is desired to communicate direct with Dr. McCoy, readers are requested to address communication direct to Dr. Frank McCoy, 689 South Ardmore Ave., Los Angeles, California, and replies will be mailed direct from that address.

Poems That Live

THE STREAM OF LIFE

O stream descending to the sea,
Thy mossy banks between,
The flowerets blow, the grasses grow,
The leafy trees are green.

In garden plots the children play,
The fields the labourers till,
And fowlers stand on either hand,
And thou descendest still.

O life descending unto death,
Our waking eyes behold,
Parent and friend thy hope attend,
Companions young and old.

Strong purposes our minds possess,
Our hearts affections fill,
We toil and earn, we seek and learn,
And thou descendest still.

O end to which our currents tend,
Inevitable sea,
To which we flow, what do we know,
What shall we guess of thee?

A roar we hear upon thy shore,
As we our course fulfill;
Scarce we divine a sun will shine
And be above us still.

SIDE GLANCES—By George Clark

"He's calling his broker again. He never gets his mind off his work for a minute."

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1831, the Upper Canada Tract Society was organized at York (not then Toronto). Curiously enough the initial meeting was held in a hotel, something remarkable when the character of most of the hotels of that time is remembered. Rev. Dr. Harris, principal of Upper Canada College, was elected president with the famous Jesse Ketchum as one of the vice presidents. Today the society will celebrate its 108th birthday with a proud record of over a century's work for Christ and the church. One feature of its early work worth recalling, was that of providing libraries for Sunday schools, the proposal of Jesse Ketchum.

A request was sent to the London Religious Tract Society for the selection of a series of books suitable for circulation amongst the young, and when the list had been carefully scanned an order was sent for 24 libraries of 100 volumes each. The first ten of these libraries arrived in 1839 and were at once distributed. The price charged was $15 less each, about half the purchase price. The distribution was: One each to the Episcopal Methodist, Wesleyan Methodist and Baptist schools in Toronto, the Wesleyan Methodist on Yonge street, the Wesleyan Methodist in York township, the Wesleyan Methodist in Whitchurch township, the Wesleyan Methodist and Canadian Methodist in Hamilton, the Primitive Methodist in Brampton, and one for a village library at Oakville, (the latter apparently the first public library in Upper Canada). In the same year the first consignment of Bibles with the metrical version of the Psalms and paraphrases were received and an order was placed for an assortment of Sunday school publications and lesson helps to teachers. The second consignment of libraries consisted of 20 small collections of 100 volumes and six of 200 books, which were readily purchased. In the annual report to say: "This is an occasion of high gratification, as these books are lent out exclusively and will long exist, diffusing truth and cheering love of pious reading which is so important in the rural districts of the province." During the following year 33 libraries were sold, most of them to Protestant Sunday schools, but some were purchased as community libraries. And in all the years that have passed the distribution of good literature has continued, thanks largely to the bequests of that great lover of the Bible, Jesse Ketchum.

Current Comment

Let us heartily commend Mr. Aberhart's latest suggestion that he will have to start a newspaper of his own. He may then stop his hitherto daily criticism of the press of this country which has met with his disfavor because it reports the news from Alberta without asking the Alberta premier first whether it's all right to do so. Mr. Aberhart finds this inconvenient. But if he edits his own paper he can always consult himself.

So much for the news. As for the comment on Social Credit, much of which he dislikes, Mr. Aberhart can quell this too by putting his scheme into successful operation—another event which the country at large (and the Alberta electors in particular) is looking forward to with keen anticipation. — Winnipeg Free Press.

BLAMING THE PRESS

Premier Aberhart rarely makes a public utterance without some reference to the newspapers and their criticisms and what he is pleased to term their distortions.

He has not a particularly sympathetic press, it is true. Few newspapers or magazines are willing to concede his claim that he has solved the economic puzzle of the universe. They are inclined to be critical as well as doubtful. But no newspapers anywhere, so far as The Tribune has observed, have deliberately brought to make trouble for Mr. Aberhart and his government, to arouse the people against the government or to accuse its members of deceit. They have reported, as a fact that cannot be challenged, that there are very large numbers of Alberta people to secure the promised Social Credit dividends, but that there has been no effort to incite the people against the government, which the present temper of the people of Alberta would be sure to do.

Mr. Aberhart's effort to arouse his own followers against the newspapers, therefore, appears to be based on the idea of finding a scapegoat for his failure to make any headway on his own plans. Every dictatorship falls down on its promises as a matter of course, and the usual method is to suppress the newspapers which might draw attention to the failures. Mr. Aberhart is not a dictator, although with his commanding majority in the Alberta legislature he has a position almost comparable with dictatorships elsewhere. But his attacks and their criticisms and threats indicate something of a dictatorship complex, against which the people of Alberta will do well to be on their guard.

If Social Credit is not established in Alberta and given a chance to demonstrate the service it can render people, it will not be because of anything the newspapers say or do not say. The failure will lie at Mr. Aberhart's doorstep.—Winnipeg Tribune.

NOW WE'RE SPANKED

Editor Bulletin: In an editorial of your paper it was stated that Canada had a right to a footing of equality with Great Britain and it was noted with satisfaction that the Governor General had recognized our equality.

It is, of course, true that many a youth considers himself a man when presented with his first long pants. What I mean is, that recognition of Canada as a nation does not necessarily make her a nation; however flattering such recognition may be. The ability of a country to manage its international affairs is not enough; it must be able to organize and maintain an efficient defence from outside foes. For us to have little or no powers of defence whatever, is to place us in an even inferior position to Ethiopia; and that is where we are. So that before we chalenge our fellow-nations on an equal footing let us either get into training right away, or have the grace to pray for our acknowledged protection.

I had heard so much talk about saltpetre being used in large quantities in the food to the extent that the boarders imagined they could not enjoy meals but taste it. Having doubts about it, I inquired and was told that one of the visitors was a joke, said to a manager in the presence of a bunch of waiting men, that he had forgotten to put saltpetre in the food, and so the story started.

Now as a fact saltpetre (potassium nitrate) although used for pickling beef to give it color and as a preservative, its use as medicine is nil and furthermore it is void of taste or smell. So much for popular imagination.

Going further into the use of saltpetre I find it causes pains, vomiting and purging, and furthermore an ounce of saltpetre in a little water has caused death to a person.

So fellow readers forget about saltpetre in your food at the soup kitchen.

BUSTED BUT LUCKY FARMER.

A PROTEST

Editor Bulletin: Having read in your issue of December 30th Rev. Dr. Tuttle's appeal to young men to take up the ministerial profession, I should like to say that many years ago I heard the Rev. Dr. addressing young men at First Baptist church, Edmonton, when he referred to the narrative of Christ walking upon the water. He told them this was one of the "word" pictures often used in those days to convey a truth and that they need not believe that He did actually walk on the water,

I have never listened to the Reverend gentleman since and the impression made upon my mind of his statement I have never forgotten. I fail to see what truth could be conveyed by practically telling me that my Bible lied in its statements, and I think young men are to be commended for refusing such teaching, especially when the ministry is held out to them as a mere profession. Only God can make a true minister, and without that he may be alright in their way. I am afraid they often cover up much that is not compatible to the scriptures.

RE LIGHTING FIRES

Editor Bulletin: Your editorial on using coal oil to light fires prompts me to offer a solution to the many accidents occurring often with fatal results.

Take a tin container, about a gallon size, fill with sawdust and pour into sawdust about one quart of coal oil. Only a dinner spoon filled with mixture is needed to light any wood fire.

This method is absolutely safe and avoids the gathering of kindling to start a fire.

LETTER HINTS LONG KILLED BY BODYGUARD

Dr. C. A. Weiss Makes Public Epistle He Wrote Governor Allen

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 10—Dr. C. A. Weiss Thursday made public a letter he wrote Governor O. K. Allen asserting that Senator Huey Long was not killed by the former's son, but "in all probability" by one of the late senator's bodyguards.

Dr. Weiss, who has kept silent since Long was shot in a corridor of the Louisiana statehouse last Sept. 8, made public his letter denouncing what he said was an attempt by the governor and the latter's political associates to link the son with a conspiracy.

POLITICAL LIES

"You know as well as every thinking man and woman that these charges are without any foundation," Dr. Weiss told the governor, "and are but political lies and propaganda uttered for political purposes and are to add suffering to the family and friends of the dead."

The doctor said there was no doubt but that his son had been "ruthlessly assassinated by hirelings of the State Bureau of Identification after being overpowered and disarmed by them."

GOVERNOR NOT AVAILABLE

Governor Allen could not be reached for comment.

The doctor's son, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, an eye, ear nose and throat specialist was felled with bullets from the guns of Long's bodyguards after he allegedly approached the senator in a corridor of the capitol and fired point-blank at him after a brief verbal exchange.

Youth Will Take Licking Instead Of Prison Term

CALGARY, Jan. 10—John Coptin, 18, who pleaded guilty in city police court to theft of a bicycle, chose the lash instead of prison.

"You can take a sound licking or a jail term," Magistrate H. G. Scott told him.

"I'll take the lashes," Coptin replied.

"It won't be lashes," said the magistrate. "It'll be a switching and it won't hit you, but you'll remember it."

BRUNO'S WIFE CLAIMED NEAR LINDY ESTATE

Statement Reveals Man and Woman Seen Before Kidnapping

TRENTON, N.J., Jan. 10—Anthony Hauck, public prosecutor in Hunterdon county, disclosed Thursday he is in possession of the signed statement of a man who said he saw a man and a woman, resembling Bruno Richard Hauptmann and his wife, near the Lindbergh Hopewell estate about 11 months before the kidnapping.

David Moore, the man who gave Hauck the statement, also gave him the names of corroborating witnesses, all of whom are being checked, Hauck said.

ATTENDED TRIAL

The prosecutor said Moore, who told his story to the police in Sept., 1934, after Hauptmann's arrest, went to Flemington last winter during Hauptmann's trial for the murder of the baby, saw Mrs. Hauptmann and was certain she was the woman he saw in the Sourlands several times in April, 1931.

Lloyd Fisher, one of Hauptmann's attorneys, said the statement was "baloney," and said he understood Moore went to Flemington while Hauptmann was in jail there and could not identify the carpenter as the man he had seen.

Believe Fisch Handled Money

MT. HOLLY, N.J., Jan. 10.—Ellis Parker, Burlington county chief of detectives, said last night he believed Isador Fisch, the German furrier who Bruno Richard Hauptmann testified gave him the $50,000 ransom money, had "handled" the money for the actual kidnappers.

Parker, who has expressed belief that Hauptmann is innocent, added that his investigation led him to the belief Fisch did not kidnap the child but that he had obtained some of the $50,000 ransom cash.

Police found $14,000 of the ransom at Hauptmann's Bronx home. He claimed the money had been left with him by Fisch before he sailed for Germany, where he died.

Parker, whose name was brought into the case at the time Governor Harold Hoffman announced he had visited Hauptmann in his death cell, said he had "nothing to break" but that he would continue to work on the case "even though Hauptmann is executed."

LAD RESCUES HIS MOTHER

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 10.—A 17-year-old lad aided unsuccessful attempts dashed into his blazing home near Valetta Thursday and rescued his mother, Mrs. Ethel Davidson, 40, wife of Henry David-son, treasurer of East Tilbury township.

Except for slight burns the lad, Angus, was uninjured, but his mother was brought to Chatham hospital where her condition was described as critical.

The fire is believed to have started from the explosion of a stove when Mrs. Davidson poured coal oil into it.

BOMBS MARK CUBA ELECTION

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—A series of bomb explosions ushered in Cuba's national elections today, wounding at least eight persons as the island republic's 2,000,000 voters chose a president and all other officers for a constitutional government.

Six bombs exploded in the hours just before the polls opened at the seaport city of Santiago, where eight persons were injured seriously.

More than 2,000 soldiers and sailors took posts at interior points.

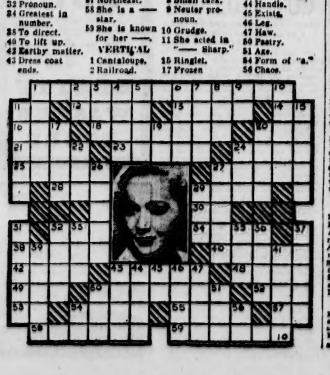

Rose-Colored Snow Tints Kansas Lawns

RESERVE, Kas., Jan. 10.—Rose-colored snow covered lawns here Thursday, leading to speculation that a Kansas blizzard got mixed up with an Oklahoma dust storm somewhere.

Mrs. Hamilton Is President Of A.M.T.A.

Mrs. T. Winslow Hamilton, whose name is synonomous with many activities of Edmonton musicians, was elected president of the Alberta Music Teachers Association at their annual meeting held in the Corona hotel on Thursday. Mrs. Hamilton is also a prominent member of the Women's Musical Club and has always given generously of her ability in other club circles, and in association with numerous prominent women's groups in Edmonton.

Extension work throughout the province is at present of major importance to the Association, and recently a group in Calgary affiliated itself with the growing provincial organization. Mrs. O. J. Walker, who as retiring president, gave her report, mentioned particularly, the extension work. She gave a review of the past season, which with the number of musicians and artists of distinction who have been entertained, has been a particularly interesting one.

For two years Mrs. Walker has been president of the association, and largely through her efforts the A.M.T.A. has become a unit in a national movement for finer musical education, and cultivation of music appreciation. Branch organization throughout the towns of Alberta are thus very important to the progress of the association.

Satisfaction was also expressed regarding the results of student recital broadcasts which are of much interest to young musicians in country districts.

The financial status was satisfactory, according to the treasurer's report.

On new executive to act with Mrs. Hamilton, are Mr. Henry Atack, vice-president; Mme. J. J. Duggan, treasurer; Mr. P. S. Legatt, secretary. Executive members include: Mrs. O. J. Walker, Mrs. Barber Smith, Mme. Le Saunier, Miss Florence Jane Teets, Mr. Norman Eagleson and Mr. D. Beringer.

EMILY BROWN HEADS CLUB AT HOLY TRINITY

Prior to the election of officers, at their annual meeting this week, members of the Holy Trinity Girls' club discussed arrangements for a dance to be held on the evening of Friday, January 17. Rev. G. G. Reynolds conducted the election and Miss Emily Brown was chosen to be president. Mrs. G. G. Reynolds, Mrs. W. T. Melrose and Mrs. Paul Greenwood are honory presidents. Miss Doris Morgan was made vice president; Miss Grace Marshall, secretary, and Miss Margaret Webster, treasurer.

DORIS BIBBY IS BRIDE OF HUGH KNOTT

Solemnized at a simple ceremony in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. Bibby, on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock was the marriage of Miss Doris Irene Bibby and Mr. Hugh Kennedy Knott, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Knott. Rev. Canon E. Pierce Goulding performed the ceremony.

The bride, a graceful figure in her gown of palest green crepe fashioned on princess lines, carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Both the bride and bridegroom are well known in Edmonton, where Miss Bibby was a nurse in training at the University hospital and Mr. Knott is connected with various church clubs in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Knott will reside in Edmonton.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHERS WILL ATTEND RALLY

Annual interdenominational rally for beginners, primary and junior Sunday school teachers in the city was arranged at a recent meeting of the executive of the Children's Work board, to take place on the evening of Tuesday, January 28, commencing at a quarter past eight o'clock in All Saints parish hall. A short dramatic sketch dealing with Sunday school problems and an address on temperance have been planned as helpful suggestions for the instructors.

Reports of the year's progress in the different churches will be given and Mr. Vernon Barford's boys' choir will entertain with several selections. Mrs. J. E. Buchanan, chairman of the board, is in charge of the affair.

Community Leagues

OLIVER

Oliver community league social committee are planning a bridge and whist to follow the regular meeting on Wednesday, January 15 at Patricia hall, 116 street. Members and their friends are invited to the affair.

No More Piles

Get Quick, Pleasant Relief

Probably not one person in ten knows the cause of piles is inside—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

That is the scientific truth about piles and is the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give more than temporary relief—they do not remove the cause.

Your piles can not be relieved until you have corrected the condition which causes them. That is why an inaernal medicine like HEM-ROID should be used.

HEM-ROID is the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, who early in his professional life made many tests to relieve piles by correcting the cause. His medicine succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, eases the pressure of blood in the veins of the lower bowel and helps to heal and restore the sore, tender parts.

So if you have failed to get the relief you want from your sore, painful piles, and would like to give HEM-ROID a trial, you have our promise to return your money, if just one bottle of this prescription does not give pleasing results. Merrick Drug Stores or any druggist can supply you with the genuine HEM-ROID

Our Lady Of The Snow

Moonlight on a snowy hill, tree-lined, and you are part of the picture—at least, you can be if you enjoy the zest of outdoor life, and a northern winter. Frost, and stars, and the world is yours, you think, skimming swiftly downhill, on skiis, making the quick, difficult turns, stopping, without a tumble in a drift! It is exhilarating, isn't it! If you are properly clad in ski togs, which are warm without being cumbersome, there is nothing to mar the sheer joy of it all. One ideal skiing ensemble, shown in the photograph, includes navy blue woolen trousers and socks, white kidskin jacket with blue doeskin lapels and blue pyralin buttons, navy blue cap, white leather gauntlet gloves and a blue and white plaid muffler.

Butterfly Has Greeting For a 79th Birthday

Was it not a happy birthday greeting . . . and a very happy omen? . . . the restless wings of a yellow butterfly spread wide as it came to rest upon the crimson blossoms centreing the tea table at Mrs. A. H. Gilmore's 79th birthday party. Nor surely out of the bitter January day, was born this gay little harbinger of sunshine and summer flowers, although it is quite possible that the bright column of January's sunshine flooding the rooms and splintering into diamonds of light in every dark corner might suddenly have become the living, curious, lovely yellow butterfly. Anyway, it was the most charming kind of birthday greeting to Mrs. Gilmore, who now commences her eightieth year.

Mrs. Gilmore's daughter, Mrs. George Kitchen was hostess at the tea hour in honor of her mother's birthday, and as the guest of honor is an expert gardener, and is justly proud of the apple trees that bloom in her garden every year she was particularly charmed by the gay little visitor.

Interesting to all the guests was the reading of a bulletin of world events of 1857, the year of Mrs. Gilmore's birth. The paper, given by her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Gardiner, recalled to Mrs. Gilmore's memory many familiar names and events.

Guests were Mrs. E. Irwin, Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. William Rea, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. G. Macdonald, Mrs. V. Dryden, Mrs. R. Scully, Mrs. A. Scully, Mrs. W. Bateman, Mrs. James Newell, Mrs. George Kitchen, Miss Ann Kitchen, Mrs. J. Duncan, Mme. G. Parett, Mme. J. A. Dostaler and Mme. A. B. Dupuis.

TRIBUTES to Helen Hayes for her portrayal of the Laurence Houseman play "Victoria Regina" in New York ring far across the land, and of her many triumphs this becomes the crowning laurel. "If the nineteenth century is Queen Victoria's monument, then this play is Helen Hayes's," writes L. S. B. Shapiro, famed for his column "Lights and Shadows of Manhattan," in the Montreal Gazette. Entirely enthusiastic, and another of those among the sterner critics of Broadway to be drawn to "the tiny feet" of Miss Hayes, Mr. Shapiro continues:

"If Victoria was a greater monarch than Mary of Scotland, then Miss Hayes may be listed among those who have set down this fact in theatrical history.

"The showing of the play in New York, after a brief tryout tour, was virtually a world premiere. The Housman work had been played only at private performances in London, not because it contains anything of which a citizen of the Empire would not be proud, but because the Lord Chamberlain forbids the public performance of plays dealing with Britain's modern monarchs.

"There is nothing particularly distinguished about the playwriting. It is a simple recital of the episodes in the life of the Queen, from the time she ascended the throne as a young woman through to her last days when she was one of the world's most beloved individuals. The episodes of her career during the lifetime of Prince Albert are written with a particular tenderness.

"It is easily seen, then, that the play depends wholly on Miss Hayes. There are few actresses who would attempt to span 60 years; none who could do it with the genius and agility of Miss Hayes. She makes the simple script live as it winds its way through the nineteenth century in peace and war. If the nineteenth century is Queen Victoria's monument, then this play will be Helen Hayes'."

WINTER AFTERNOON

Fred Lape in the New York Sun

Earth plans her beauty well, nothing is wasted.
These withered stalks of goldenrod and asters
Serve now to call the sparrows that have tasted
Their seeds before, and come to show what masters
They are of standing on their heads and eating,
And at the same time spilling notes like bells,
Or dropping on the snow to leave their fleeting
Tracks in angles and tiny parallels.

And farther on the weeds give way to grasses
In gold waves leaning over the cool snow,
Rustling and whispering when a wind passes
Over and over them and bends them low.
They kindle in the sun like golden hair.
This moment's light on them transmutes the earth.
How shall I face such magic and not wear
Its mark forever like a mark of birth.

SWEET BUNCH OF DAISIES TOPS NEW HAT

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Get ready ladies, to wear a spring hat adorned with a hyacinth stalk sticking straight up or with clumps of violets in front and behind.

The world hasn't seen such flowery hats since grandmother wore a miniature garden plot on her top-knot. One of the new models has a bunch of daisies swinging loose over one ear.

"Men will have to get used to them," said the hat creator who ushered in the spring season by also showing red patent leather gloves and "lamp-shade hats."

"The funnier a hat is, the better women like it," she said. "Men like crazy hats, too."

What Secrets Are Allowed A Woman?

CALGARY, Jan. 10.—Can a woman be compelled to reveal her age while under examination in court?

This is the problem Judge W. A. Macdonald of the district court may have to decide.

Miss E. Bellairs, a New York actress at present residing in Calgary, refused to reveal her age in Judge Macdonald's court today.

C. J. Ford, K.C., counsel for a local hotel from which Miss Bellairs seeks damages for alleged "humiliation of having her room closed to her," asked how long she had been engaged in theatrical work.

"Since I was 14 years old," she replied.

"How many years ago was that?" Mr. Ford wanted to know.

The actress refused to answer counsel and Judge Macdonald ruled that the question be not pressed at the present stage of proceedings.

Miss Bellairs alleges the hotel broke a room contract with her; seized her nine valises when she refused to pay her bill under the alleged broken contract, and "humiliated" her before other guests.

Clyde, Britain's famous shipbuilding city, had its worst year in 1931. Business dropped 70 per cent below that of 1930, and 80 per cent below that of 1913, the best year on record.

Queen Mary Is Not Known Well Enough

Distinguished among visitors in Edmonton today is Mrs. D. M. Duncan of Victoria, British Columbia, principal of St. Margaret's School and a leading educationist in the west. Mrs. Duncan, who is the daughter of Archbishop Matheson of Winnipeg, formerly of Prince Rupert, is returning by way of Edmonton, Calgary and Revelstoke, to the Pacific Coast, after spending Christmas with her father in Winnipeg.

In her lectures under the auspices of the, Women's Canadian Clubs, she has chosen to speak of "Queen Mary of England." It is a special study talk, Mrs. Duncan says, for she feels that people ought to know more about their queen and learn to appreciate her as a brilliant and distinguished woman among women and not only as queen regent.

Mrs. Duncan is an ardent traveller, and in the past twenty years has travelled throughout Canada, south, east and west and north, where she spent some time in the Peace River country. She is familiar with the large cities of the United States, knows Europe, and has spent a year in Asia.

A year ago, she and her husband took over the St. Margaret's School in Victoria, where she is principal. The school is well established and its fame reaches throughout Canada. Mrs. Duncan's husband, Dr. D. M. Duncan, former superintendent of schools in Manitoba, is associated in the work. Mrs. Duncan, as educationist, is associated with the Head Mistresses' organization in Canada as corresponding secretary.

Many guests heard her splendid jubilee-year talk in the Macdonald Hotel on Friday afternoon at tea, under the Women's Canadian Club auspices. Mrs. Gordon Gray presided and guests at the head table included Mrs. E. K. Broadus, Miss Maddock, Mrs. G. A. McKee, Mrs. Gordan Swallow, Mrs. J. F. McMullen and Mrs. George Hudson.

EXCELLENT RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. Scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Make Left-Over Egg Yolks Into Noodles

By MARY E. DAGUE

Did you ever make noodles? You can—and the family will love them. Besides they will use up left-over egg yolks.

Since it takes but little more time to make enough noodles for several meals, add one or two whole eggs to the yolks to increase the quantity and quality. You need one tablespoon water for each egg yolk.

Noodle soup is a good winter luncheon dish and noodles cut in tiny straw-like lengths add much to the cup of dinner consomme or bouillon. When served in the clear dinner soup, noodles should be boiled in salted water and drained before adding to the prepared meat stock.

For parties, try a noodle ring filled with creamed meat, or fish or a platter of fried noodles garnished with halves of hard cooked eggs and served with a smooth cream sauce.

NOODLES

Three egg yolks, 1 whole egg, 3 tablespoons water, 1½ teaspoons salt, 2 2-3 cups flour.

Beat yolks of eggs, water and whole egg until thoroughly blended. Add salt and enough sifted flour to make a very stiff dough. Knead well on a lightly floured molding board. Divide into six parts and roll each part as thin as possible. Cover with a clean towel and let stand for thirty minutes. Roll each sheet separately like a jelly roll and cut in very thin slices. Shake out slices and toss lightly on board to dry. When thoroughly dry store in covered jars or boxes for future use.

In calculating quantities it is worth keeping in mind that one egg or its equivalent of one egg yolk and one tablespoon water will make enough noodles to serve four persons with a generous amount of noodle soup.

Instead of cutting the dough into strips it can be cut in two-inch squares and used to make noodle balls. This is a good way to use up left-over meat or fish from the soup bone. Carefully trim off fat and gristle and chop meat very fine. Season well with salt and pepper and parsley or onion finely minced. Add one unbeaten egg and mix well. Add milk if necessary to make moist enough to stick together. Fill squares of noodle dough with prepared meat mixture and draw together. Dampen edges with a little cold water and press firmly together. Drop into boiling salted water or meat broth and boil 20 minutes. Serve on a hot platter and garnish with parsley.

To prepare noodles for chow mein, sprinkle two tablespoons salad oil over one pound noodles and steam fifteen minutes, lifting noodles carefully with a fork in order to separate well. Spread on molding board and let cool. Then fry until crisp and a golden brown in deep hot fat or oil. Drain thoroughly and use.

Mix with a well seasoned sauce or gravy is best with noodles. Patties of chopped veal known as "Bitocks" served with paprika sauce are delicious. Panbroil the patties and make a sauce in the pan, seasoning it well with sweet Spanish paprika and use tomato juice in place of water in the sauce.

"Bitocks" are patties of chopped veal. Fried and served with a paprika sauce, they are a fine complement for a dinner featuring noodles as the starch dish.

Doesn't Pay To Guard Daughters Too Closely

DEAR MISS DIX—This is a plea from one who has not been allowed to mature socially. My parents have done much to fulfill my desire for knowledge, but have not realized my need for human relationships. I have never been permitted to do the things that other youngsters do, or to have any intimate association with boys and girls of my own age.

Dorothy Dix

I have never even had a girl friend, and as the result I lack knowledge of life and emotional control. My parents consider that I am a reincarnation of their youth and that I want to do only the things that they used to do when they were young. I am expected to fall in with this plan as if I were a baby. How can I make them understand that a girl of 19 has some right to make decisions for herself and to have her chance at life?

D. S. S.

Answer: There is no problem harder to solve than that of the children who are enslaved by possessive parents, because the parents are so unalterably sure that they are right and that they are doing the very best thing possible for the children they adore.

"Why, I'd give my life to save John or Mary a single pang of suffering," they cry. "Why, I have never thought of anything except Mary since the day she was born. I have watched over her every minute of her life. I have studied with her. I have played with her. I have sacrificed myself and my own pleasures and inclinations to her. I have guarded her every minute. I have never left her to shift for herself and get acquainted with strange children, as so many mothers do. I have kept her from doing the foolish things that so many young girls do. And you can see for yourself that Mary isn't like the modern girls all about us," they add self-righteously.

You do see that Mary isn't like the other girls and you want to weep. You see a girl who is prematurely old because her ideas are all of the vintage of mother's day. You see a girl who is somehow frumpy-looking, no matter how expensive are the clothes she has on. You see a girl who is awkward and ill at ease among the boys and girls of her own age; who has none of the chatter of the youngsters with whom she is thrown; none of their give and take; none of their gay comradery.

She is as much an alien in any bunch of young people as a white swan would be in a flock of blackbirds. She is a wallflower at parties, not because she lacks attractiveness, but just because she doesn't fit into the picture.

In trying to do her best for her daughter, mother has done her worst, because she has unfitted her to live in a world in which she must live and in which the girl wants to live. For, after all, she isn't mother's age. She is the other girls' age and she wants to go out and have dates and to laugh and be merry and just one of the crowd.

Also in trying to protect her daughter from the world mother has made her vulnerable to all its dangers. For the old lure of forbidden fruit still holds good with every descendant of Eve, and the more a girl is kept away from boys, the more boy-crazy she is. The more she has been repressed, the wilder she goes when she breaks loose from her bonds. The less she knows about men, the more glamorous they are to her and the more unable she is to judge them. The girl who has never been permitted to have a date loses her head and her heart over the first boy who makes love to her, just as the girl who has played around with boys since her grammar-school days doesn't take any love-making seriously that isn't an out-and-out proposal of marriage.

Parents make no greater mistake than when, as this girl says, they imagine their children to be reincarnations of themselves, animated by the same impulses and tastes and desires. This is not true in a million times. Each of us has his own individuality and each of us has his right to live his life in his own way. And parents commit a cruel wrong against their children when they deny them this right and try to force them into their own mold.

There is nobody for whom I have greater sympathy than the children of possessive parents.

Expert Tells How To Treat Split Hair Ends

By GLADYS GLAD

Certain historians claim that it was the famous French queen, Marie Antoinette, who was the originator of bobbed hair. Marie Antoinette, it seems, used over-hot curling irons on her hair frequently, in order to form the numerous curls and ringlets that were then in vogue. This treatment caused the ends of her hair to become dry, brittle and to split. And as a result of this condition she was forced to cut off her long tresses and adopt a bobbed coiffure. For split ends constitute a far from attractive hair condition.

Women today do not use hot curling irons as extensively as they formerly did, but there are still quite a number who constantly employ such implements for curling their tresses. It is when such irons are improperly used that the hair suffers. The hair-ends especially are harmed when an over-hot curling iron is inexpertly used on the hair, for the hair-ends possess less natural oil than the hair near the scalp, and since the heat of the iron tends to extract oil from the hair the hair-ends become dry, split and brittle.

DOROTHY LAMOUR

BLEACHING MAY CAUSE SPLIT

Over-bleaching or improper bleaching can also cause split hair ends. But whatever the cause, such a condition should always be corrected as soon as it is detected, for it really is not so difficult to correct it especially if the cause of the trouble is first dispensed with. Formerly, singeing was always advised to correct split ends. But in my opinion, this is no more effective a procedure than merely cutting off the split ends. That doesn't mean that a long-haired lass must bob her hair. But she should cut off the hair ends about one-fourth of an inch above each split.

In addition, frequent hot oil shampoos, such as the excellent pastor oil treatments outlined in my "Beauty Culture" booklet should be administered. The oil should be applied particularly to the hair ends, as the outside of every hair is composed of little scales that will absorb what oil they need to keep them from becoming dry and brittle. Such oil treatments help to nourish the hair follicles and the scalp, and will keep the hair luxuriantly soft and glossy.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

A man said not long ago, "I get a bit tired reading about the 'success' fellow and his little red school-house, the old swimmin' hole and pepper-toed shoes. These old birds are wrapping haloes around their boyhood, because we always put a shrine over things that are gone. Besides when they see life slipping on its natural, I suppose, to wish that childhood could come back."

O. R. Barton

And then he went on to tell about his own childhood. I had about as decent a time as any kid I knew. Better, in some ways. I spent half the year in the country and the other half in town, so I have double memories to revert to.

"Maybe it was my temperament not to be gurgling with joy, but I hate it that others do have any hangover of happiness about it all now.

"Now, was always something I seemed to be dreading. If it was not a calling-down from my dad it was a reminder from my mother. Grandmother was always telling me to be a good boy and talking morals to me, and the aunts and uncles were forever comparing me to my cousins.

HONOR THROUGH DISHONOR

"I never expected praise for anything and never got it. What I did that was right didn't draw any praises. I was never told what a good boy I was now and then as Jack Horner had to pat his own back. Except once that impressed itself on my memory, perhaps, because it was so rare. I sneaked the old shepherd dog into Grandma's bed and hid him in my room one night. He slept on my bed. The next morning some farmers came and bought Shep's killing sheep. Said he had been seen. I produced Shep and all the family looked at me as though I were Lafayette and Houdini rolled into one. I was allowed to see all the chickens and noodles I wanted. If I had asked to set fire to the barn that day somebody would have handed me a match. And yet I had achieved the honor through dishonor. Those things were always mixing me up.

"What I remember best of all as an illustration of the opposite method happened at school when I went back to the city one fall.

STORY OF A GOLD "PENNY"

"We were asked to take pennies to buy some milk for poor babies. My mother was away, but she had left some pennies in the corner of a drawer. I never took money, but I thought she would forgive a penny. There was only one, a big shiny piece, and I took it and dropped it in the box. The principal came in later and asked if any child had made a mistake and put in a five-dollar gold piece. I had never heard of such a thing, so looked around at the other kids and wondered what it was all about. Then, as you will soon find out, so you don't spoil my fun.

"If we should make a big haul and in our trap some beast should crawl, 'twill be goodby for him, because he never will get out."

A real nice trap was made with ease. The bunch then hid behind some trees. "Here comes a tiny elephant," cried Goldy, in delight. "It sees the peanuts used as bait. How thrilling! I can hardly wait. It's heading for the cage now. I sure hope it works all right."

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The Tinies all rushed out and they were glad when they heard Scouty say, "This man's a little hunter. He's as friendly as can be.

"We're welcome on this real strange land and I think that is simply grand. No harm will come to us. That's what the hunter just told me."

"Of course not," said the little man. "I'm glad to say that you all like me. Instead, they're tiny little fellows. You could hold them in your lap.

"Now, follow me! We'll have a lark and capture one before it's dark. In just about a minute I will make a little trap."

"Oh, I will help you," Duncy cried, as he rushed to the hunter's side. "I'm pretty good at things large.

(READ THE STORY THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

"Why, you're so little," Doty said, "and beasts so big, I really dread to think, sir, what will happen, if a lion chases you.

"I guess that you would make one bite. Why, I'd be simply filled with fright. If any animal rushed out, I don't know what I'd do."

The hunter smiled and then he said: "You think the beasts are

Many people who have ferns are under the impression that the little brown spots of the leaves are some sort of parasite or pest and they try to wash them off, or pick them off. The idea is quite wrong, for these spots are "spores" and contain the seed germs of the plant. Without these, there could be no reproduction of fresh plants. To brush and destroy them is to remove these brown spots from the leaves.

What To Do

By Francina Markel

Can you tell me how to control a nervous cough? I'm not ill, do not even have a cold, but every time I go to a lecture or concert or even to church, I suddenly develop a coughing spell which is so embarrassing and annoying. Is there a way to stop this?

BETTY.

Answer—Many people are affected in the same way, Betty, and usually when one person in a group starts coughing, at least a dozen other coughs are immediately heard. Of course, you don't want to encourage such an annoying habit, so try this: Carry a tiny purse-size bottle of smelling salts with you and at the first intimation of a tickle in your throat, inhale rather deeply of the pungent fragrance. This will almost invariably cure the inclination to cough, and the scent will annoy no one, as it is rather pleasing.

The lines of the new coiffure tend to go upward from the sides and the back. "Snail" curls pinned at the top of the head keeps the hair away from the face. Notice, too, that the nape of the neckline is upward.

Although designed to fit tightly, modern disc-style hub caps often become loose and rattle, due to dents and rough handling. This can be remedied by stretching a quarter-inch-wide rubber band over the inner rim of the cap to act as a washer.

Contract Bridge

IT WAS JUST TOO BAD

A player, who has not suffered severely from partners who insist on leading trumps, knows that it is rare and unusually fortunate. I never have seen as exaggerated a case of hard luncheon as the one suffered on today's deal. The sufferer very properly took the matter before the card committee of the club where it occurred, and the culprit not only had to apologize and pay the loss suffered on the hand, he also was put on probation. When he offered his resignation he was told that only escape from the penalty imposed would have been expulsion, and that he did not want.

Bidding went: South, 1-Diamond; West, 1-No Trump, although two suits were wide open to attack; North, 3-Clubs; East, 3-Spades, to show his game-and-two-suiter; West, 3-No Trumps; East, 4-Hearts, which West should have shifted into 4-Spades, which call just could have been fulfilled, with the loss of a single trick each, in spades, hearts and diamonds. West, 4-No Trumps. To save worse loss East passed, undoubted. Neither South nor North wanted to drive opponents back into a major suit call, which certainly would have happened had no trumps been doubled. Neither side was vulnerable.

The opening lead was the 7 of diamonds. South's K won. Instead of continuing his own suit South led back his top club. West's 9 was picked up by North's 10. Another diamond gave South entry with his Ace. Again he led back his top club. West's 7 was captured with North's Q. Then North led back a heart through dummy's major tenace. Wanting to be in his own hand, West played low from dummy, hoping to win with his 10, but South's K took the trick. The third club was led through West, and North took his Ace and 5, giving his side eight straight tricks. As the only remaining loser North led back a spade and the ninth trick went to South's Ace.

West had contracted to win 10 tricks. He failed by one trick, putting him down six tricks and costing his side 300 points. It was too bad that his side was not vulnerable, as the lesson might have sunken in deeper.

It will seem strange to many that East did not bid 5-Hearts. Perhaps he felt certain that North-East could have bid higher in no trumps and suffered still worse.

ROTARY CLUB SOCIAL WORK IS REVIEWED

Greater Personal Contact Between Members and Boys Stressed

The Edmonton Rotary Club held a club council Thursday night at the Macdonald hotel. The entire meeting was devoted to the discussion of the club's social service work and to hearing reports from various committees. President Ray Staples occupied the chair.

Several speakers gave graphic accounts of the work the club is doing in regard to helping families at Christmas time; the boys' camp at Edmonton Beach; the club's contribution to the Beulah Home and suggested ways and means of extending social service work.

PERSONAL CONTACT NEEDED

Frank Wolfe stressed the necessity of greater personal contact between the club members and the underprivileged boys who go to the Rotary Camp. Encouragement that could be given by individual members to the boys would be valuable and appreciated, Mr. Wolfe felt.

Dr. R. C. Wallace, as head of the aims and object committee, expressed the opinion that a more international attitude reflected by increased membership of non-Anglo Saxons would be in the best interests of the club.

"I think Rotary should take on an international aspect in its membership. I look forward to the time when we can get five or six to give viewpoints concerning their own country which may be a little different from the conceptions we have at present concerning their countries. The practice of internationalism at home will be, I feel, well worth while," the University president stated.

BOWLING AND CURLING

Bill Freeman head of the sports committee reported on bowling and curling activities of the club. A bonspiel among Rotary members will be held in the near future it was decided.

E. E. Roper reported on the fine work of the Beulah Home to which the club contributes in a financial way.

Dr. Harold Orr spoke on "Rotary Abroad" and Sam Dixon discussed the possibility of entertaining the sons and daughters of Rotarians who live outside Edmonton and who are at present attending the University. It was decided to entertain them at a noon luncheon and to follow this up by having individual members open their homes to these students.

INTIMATE GLIMPSES AND INSIDE STUFF ON THE MOVIE COLONY

By DAN THOMAS

THE bel canto of the slender divas is abroad in the land, and many a theatre once sacred to German dramaturgy now is rocking gently to fortissimo choruses. However, three or four songbirds don't make an operatic summer. Or even a winter.

The flicker impresarios are still cautious, not being quite sure that American audiences are really opera-mad. Most of them suspect that there still is a difference between movie audiences and opera audiences. The latter regard opera as a natural form of art which justifies its own being, even if it sounds a little silly in spots.

Movie-goers may be romantic enough, and like music well enough but they do want their performers to behave logically and not go around bursting into arias whenever they want to bum a cigarette or invite a girl out to dinner.

If you have been following the fortunes of the Tibbetts, Moores, and even the Marx brothers, you will have noticed that Hollywood doesn't attempt to pour its opera straight. It prefers filming stories about singers and providing actual opera scenes as background or, at best, incidents.

The time may come—and you can find a good many sane people in Hollywood who expect it soon—when straight opera will pack 'em in at your corner theatre. But the time is not yet.

Short takes: Richard Arlen used to want to be an auto racer; still likes fast driving. Ruth Chatterton intended to teach school. Gary Cooper almost became a cartoonist, and so did John Barrymore. Miriam Hopkins only wanted to dance. And Paul Lukas' ambition was to be a lawyer.

Cooper's current ambition is to learn to toote a saxophone. Carole Lombard, for some sympathetically experimental reason, would like to see a volcano in action. Charles Ruggles wishes he could belong to a lodge and wear gold braid and a sword. Jack Oakie, whose equator is getting no smaller, intends some day to turn backward handsprings. And Charles Laughton wishes he could touch the floor without bending his knees.

Bing Crosby hopes to do stunts on his bicycle. Boris Karloff wants a role for which he has to grow a long beard.

ETHIOPIANS ENJOY WOUNDS MARCH DAY ON CUP OF TEA

was still—and again—reading his massive Bible.

"Sleep well?" he asked, shattering my illusion that he was a Swede. "Great, until these men started shouting. How long has this been going on?" "Two weeks. They've passed here in tens of thousands. Most of them have no idea where or why they are going. You couldn't believe it if I told you half those men never heard the name of Haile Selassie and not one in a hundred ever saw him."

It seemed pretty hard to realize they'd never heard the name of the "Elect of God", because their parade was frequently being stopped while various troopers untangled themselves from personal brawls by calling on the emperor to settle their fight.

FALL OUT AND SHRIEK

For instance, Corporal Joe Dokes would miss a half bologna from his kit bag. Instantly he suspected Private John Doe, who was marching behind him. They fall out of line to shriek at each other. How they did shriek! John Doe insisted he had not stolen the salami, not one smell of it.

Up would come Corporal Joe's finger. He'd wag this menacingly across the private's nose, like a deep breath and howl "Bar Hally Selassy." You can't possibly get the effect of this by reading it, because it was all done in rhythm to the swinging of the finger. The word "Bar" would take at least 30 seconds to unwind itself.

The accused man would answer with the very same "Bar Hally Selassy" only he'd bark out the words quick as machine-gun fire. Both did this two or three times, then, apparently satisfied that some other private must have pinched the bologna, they'd fall back in line and carry on.

FREE LANCE MISSIONARY

My host, a Scot from the Highlands, had been a travelling salesman in England for many years. Quite a well-heeled case, he called himself. Then dramatically, in a revival meeting he got religion, felt the call to foreign service and at his own expense sped out to Kenya.

That seemed far too civilized to need his ministrations so he tramped on foot and muleback in this busy road in Bar Said and set himself up as saver of souls.

Soon, when he objected to seeing hands and legs cut from men accused of petty thefts or other crimes, he was expelled. He went deeper into the country, had medical books sent out from England and started doing what he could for the sick and maimed wherever he found them. He was not a regular missionary and had no income.

When the war broke he came back to Bar Said. There was no other doctor for about 60 miles and he'd made his bungalow into a sort of hospital. All his patients—he got another while we were talking of this — had self-inflicted wounds. By "self" I mean they had not come up against the Italians but in the joy and exuberance of having real guns and real bullets in their possession had occasionally tried them out on one another with results that seemed satisfactory to all.

TAKE PLEASURE IN WOUNDS

Certainly the five wounded men I saw took actual pleasure in their discomforts and at the slightest provocation whipped off their bandages to show me where the bullet had gone in and where it came out again. They were very much like kids with new toys.

The amateur doctor dug up some breakfast, his wife was away on some mission of mercy—while I went out to watch the endless, tireless advance of the troops. As far as I could see in either direction dusty, white-clad figures were heading toward battle.

A few men, sort of native police, stood beside the road, with canes or big whips, and, when the procession slowed down as a whole, they'd wallop about them with frenzied activity. This was only when the entire parade lost pep. Individuals could stop and argue, step out for a smoke or even start heading back where they came from without being bothered by the whip slingers, but just let the whole movement ease down and somebody was sure of a black eye or a cracked head. Nobody seemed to mind this in the slightest.

Similar scenes were to be seen in other directions, white-clad figures were heading toward battle.

VERA VAN

sprang to stardom on the radio program, "California Melodies" which also cradled such celebrities as the Boswell Sisters and Bing Crosby.

if they felt like resting no amount of belaboring, even though it made the blood spurt, hurried them to the extent of a single minute.

With feeling between admiration and horror I wormed my way among these creatures, most of them looked on me with surly pride. At the bend in the road where a warrior chief had been so blissfully tight the night before, all tents had vanished and in their place small tea, beer and wine stalls were in operation. Troops streaming by looked more enviously but there is no recognized commisariat to that part of the Ethiopian army I was seeing and even the chief chose to feed his troops the matter of sustenance was up to themselves. You could tell which soldiers being beaten and sent hungry on route marches, but Ethiopia is pretty different.

BEGS TEA FOR MEN

Anyhow, as I stood by the tea stalls, a chief came up on a mule, dismounted, summoned a boy of 10 or so who wore a brass-buttoned, white tunic and said through him: "Please gentleman, my men and myself have come far. We are tired. We have no money. Could you, please gentleman, supply us with some tea?"

It was all so very touching, so very human and so unexpected that a lump came into my throat. The young boy and the man had motioned to their followers, about 60 bearded men, and these all squatted in the dust so that other advancing troops had to go around them.

"Sure," I said. "I'll buy tea. Would you like something else . . . some of these pancakes?" No gentleman, Just tea. My men can march today's distance on tea. We will eat food later."

"And how much will it cost for tea for your men?" "A thaler gentleman, a thaler will buy us much tea."

This was less than a cent per man but it suddenly occurred to me I had no thalers. I'd never seen a thaler. I didn't have any money whatever, I told the man to wait and hurried back to Mackenzie's stone hut. He gave me ten thalers (I still have both of them) and when I got back to where the old chief had made his plea he was gone. He and his stalwart 60 were somewhere ahead in a cloud of dust raised by bare black feet marching out to defend their homeland. It occurred to me that men whose needs were so simple as a single cup of tea for a route march would be pretty hard to beat.

MOSCOW, Jan. 10.—The crew of a stratosphere balloon, after passing through 21½ miles of clouds, landed last night near Gorky, 250 miles from the Moscow starting point, and reported a successful observation of Wednesday night's eclipse of the moon.

A black bear cub weighs between 9 and 12 ounces at birth. This is about one 250th of its full-grown weight.

4 TRAPPED IN STORM, FREEZE

GILLETTE, Wyo., Jan. 10.—Blizzard-swept Wyoming plains Thursday yielded the bodies of four persons, trapped in a raging, sub-zero storm Sunday night.

Searching parties who floundered through heavy ice and snow in a district 25 miles south of here found the frozen bodies of Mrs. Emma Wagstaff, 38, and Mr. and Mrs Eugene Royal.

Searchers said Royal had stripped off all his clothing except a shirt and wrapped the garments around his wife in an attempt to shelter her from the storm.

The body of Tom Wagstaff, 40, rancher and former British newspaperman, was found earlier.

WOMAN HEADS LABOR UNION

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10—For the first time in its history a woman Thursday headed the St. Louis Central Trades and Labor Union—representing 80,000 union workers here.

She is Mrs. Mary E. Ryder, elected vice-president, but elevated temporarily to the presidency by the death yesterday of William Fitzmaurice, veteran union leader.

Labor officials said there was a strong likelihood Mrs. Ryder, executive director of the Missouri commission for the blind and active in civic affairs, would be named permanently to the post.

FOUR YOUTHS DIE IN CHAIR

OSSINING, N.Y., Jan. 10.—Four youths calmly went to their death last night in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison for the slaying of a New York policeman in a luggage store holdup.

They went to the chair praying, but apparently without fear. They made no remarks. They were:

Newman Raymond, Jr., 21, Americo Angelini, 20, Thomas Gilbride, 20, and Ray Orley, 21.

It was the first time in 18 years that four men had been executed in one night.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD MEET IN PHILADELPHIA

Pennsylvania City Wins Out Over Frisco and Chicago

By MELBOURNE CHRISTERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—After a spirited and almost unprecedented "poker game," with table stakes so high as to all but wipe out the party's deficit, the Democratic national committee late Thursday picked Philadelphia for its 1936 national convention.

The Pennsylvania city, never before the scene of a Democratic convention, won out over San Francisco and Chicago when its representatives finally waved a certified cheque for $250,000. Then, to meet higher bids, Philadelphia concessions estimated to raise the total to between $250,000 and $300,000 were offered.

Party Chairman James A. Farley announced the national conclave, intended to renominate President Roosevelt, would start June 23. The Republican party will meet in Cleveland beginning June 9.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR WALSH GIVEN OVATION AS HE SPEAKS BEFORE ALBERTA LAW SOCIETY

Hon. W. L. Walsh, lieutenant-governor of Alberta, and a former judge of the supreme court, came back among the members of his own profession on Thursday and received as tumultuous a reception as was ever accorded a benevolent ruler.

When "The Governor," erect and patriarchal, rose to address the members of the Law Society of Alberta in the Macdonald hotel at noon, 175 prominent and undistinguished lawyers surged to their feet, cheered and applauded for several minutes, and then sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Gov. Walsh

Mr. Walsh, visibly affected by this affectionate welcome, delivered an informal speech that was a masterpiece of wit and sentiment. Members of the bar, in holiday mood, indulged in playful backchat with His Honor, but when, for his closing remarks, he dealt with his impending retirement there was a painful, embarrassed silence. Then the tension wasn't relieved until Chief Milner, K.C., launched into a speech of appreciation.

DEALS WITH FATE

The lieutenant governor dealt with the vicissitudes of fate which have played hob with his titular career. He pointed out that a judge of the district court is addressed as "Your Honor," and he, while a member of the supreme court bench, was addressed as "Your Lordship." Now, while he holds the ultimate office of lieutenant-governor, he is merely addressed as "Your Honor."

"If find," he said, "that the term 'Your Honor' is used indiscriminately to designate the Lieutenant-Governor, a district court judge and the right to play the first golf ball off the next tee."

"I sometimes play golf with Judge Crawford, you know," he explained.

"That's easy," boomed a voice from one of the tables in the dining room.

NO USE ASKING

"The history of all these titles worries me," he went on. "My friend, Mr. Justice Ford, will probably put me right about them."

"I certainly will," threatened Mr. Justice Ford, who was only a few feet away.

"I suppose I should have asked my friend, Mr. Bennett, about titles while he was in office," lamented the Governor. "There's no use asking Mr. Mackenzie King."

Mr. Walsh told one story of how, when he was on the bench, a defendant in a criminal case appeared before him and refused to accept the assistance of counsel. He asked Mr. Justice Walsh whether he should take trial by judge or trial by jury.

"Well," the bench replied, "when I was practicing if I thought my client was innocent I'd ask him to plead before the judge. If I thought he was guilty I'd tell him to take trial by jury."

"In that case," said the prisoner, "I'll take trial by jury."

LAST APPEARANCE

Then, "The Governor," his voice husky with emotion, told his listeners that it was the last time that he would appear before them. Despite protestations from members of the audience he announced that when his term ends he will seek peaceful retirement in some other part of the land.

"I can only close with the words of Sir William Mulock, he told the solicitors, subdued and attentive. "Although the shadows of evening are lengthening around me, there is morning in my heart." Applause thundered through the hotel.

The Law Society of Edmonton tendered him luncheon to the parent organization. President E. W. S. Kane was chairman.

Premier William Aberhart plans to spend Sunday at Calgary and will return here Monday.

Mr. Justice Ford, sitting in supreme court Friday morning, awarded a divorce decree absolute to Mildred Pawling who sued Henry M. Pawling.

National Food Products of Brooks have been capitalized at $60,000 and later this was boosted to $100,000, according to Hon. Dr. C. Mannings, provincial secretary.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

If a proposed change in the city's gasoline bylaw is supported by council, motorists finding themselves out of gas after service stations are closed will be able to buy the fuel providing they obtain a permit from the police department.

This exception bylaw prevents sales of gasoline after stations have closed at 8 p.m. in the winter and 10 p.m. in the summer months.

The new proposal would work out as follows: A person needing gas after closing hours would call police headquarters, which in turn would call the gasoline vendor and o.k. the sale. A full record of such sales would be kept.

"What do you think of the police permit plan?" the B.I.R. asked today. Replies follow:

MARY S. CLARK, motorist: "I think this is a case of, much ado about nothing. This definitely ended day and age a motorist should not be forced to go to so much trouble to get a gallon or two of gasoline after eight o'clock. While I admit that out of fairness to station operators a reasonable closing hour should be fixed, I believe that the permit plan is very cumbersome."

LEONARD O. SANDERS, druggist: "I really don't see the necessity of all this fuss about gasoline sales. If the service stations want to close at eight o'clock in fairness to employees, that's o.k. But some provision should be made for the unfortunate motorist who needs gas after that hour. This police permit system would be a waste of time and a lot of bookkeeping if the late sales are to be confined to a chosen few."

* * *

J. A. McNEIL, manager, Edmonton branch, Alberta Motor Association: "One of the big difficulties in the permit idea is the fact that strangers in town will have no knowledge of the law and will find themselves stranded and unable to get gas. Why not let the garages who are operating a 24-hour service sell gas and oil after 8 p.m.? This is supposed to be an age of progress, but you wouldn't think so, judging by these 'nuisance bylaws.'"

COL. F. C. JAMIESON, K.C., counsel for the Edmonton Gasoline Retailers' Association: "The police permit plan is the best way out of this difficulty, in my opinion. The present closing time for stations prevents employes working 15 to 18 hours a day. Under the proposed scheme, the motorist is put to the minimum of trouble and a full record is kept of late sales made by stations. It doesn't take a minute to phone police headquarters and get a permit to buy gasoline."

THOMAS BOURK, service station operator: "Definite closing hour for all stations gives us an opportunity of enjoying ourselves for at least part of the day. The permit scheme deserves a trial, at least, and if it fails, then some other plan satisfactory to operators and motorists can be tried."

New Grain Route

FORT ERIE, Ont. Jan. 10.—A new special train consisting of 65 cars of grain leaves here at 9:45 o'clock nightly over the Canadian National Railways line from New York Central Railways connections. It makes the trip from here to Toronto yards in two hours and 45 minutes, and is part of a new route to the eastern seaboard.

Cent a Mile bargain fares from various points in Alberta and Saskatchewan to Edmonton on specific dates in January and February are announced by the Canadian Pacific railway.

PRICES FIXED FOR EMERGENT POWER SCHEME

Prices to be paid by each party for standby service in case of emergencies was fixed in negotiations between the city and Calgary Power Co., Friday morning. Figures set were not revealed, commissioners stating the result of the conference would be reported to city council at its regular meeting, Monday.

Following discontinuance of the Edmonton-Calgary Power agreement last fall, the city entered into an arrangement with the company providing for a standby power service for emergencies. Each party provided the other was likely in such cases. No money is paid out for the service by either the city or company unless the power is used.

Several other points in the relationship between both parties were also ironed out at Friday's conference. Those taking part in discussions were Mayor J. A. Clarke, K.C., Commissioner David Mitchell, Commissioners R. J. Gibb and C. H. Thompson, manager of the Calgary Power Co.

LABOR TO ASK FOR POST ON BOARD

Resolutions urging amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act to improve conditions for trade unionists and a request that a labor representative be placed on the board will be dealt with at the annual three-day convention of the Alberta Federation of Labor which opens at Calgary, Monday. These matters will be brought to the attention of the convention by a delegation of about 25 from the Edmonton Trades and Labor Council, and other organizations, for any other means of having patients take an interest in themselves, is a help toward recovery, declared Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health, on Friday when shown a despatch from the east stating that this procedure was being followed.

Provision was made a year or so ago at the Ponoka mental institution for giving permanent ways to the insane patients, it being shown that when a patient shows enough interest to want to do this done, that recovery is being made.

Bright ties, socks, and other attractive garments are often given male patients with the same object.

FORMER CITY TAXI-DRIVER KILLS SELF

Otto Mason Torrington Dies by Own Hand at Cameron Bay

Otto Mason Torrington, former Edmonton taxi driver, disappeared two weeks ago at Cameron Bay, Great Bear Lake, and was found to have committed suicide in a cabin four miles from the settlement.

Torrington's body was discovered Thursday and foul play was at first suspected but investigation has shown he took his own life. The coroner at Cameron Bay, Dr. T. O. Byrne, has been notified and will conduct a probe.

Torrington first went north in 1933 when he sailed on the boat Great Bear Lake, built by Capt. John Matheson here, making her maiden voyage from Waterways to Great Bear Lake.

AT BEAR LAKE

He worked at Great Bear Lake mines until they closed down and then returned to Edmonton for a short time before going back in with the Bo Bonanza company. He was employed with this firm until about two months ago, when it was said he was not in the best of health.

He had been ready to come out two weeks ago with Harry Hayter, of Mackenzie Air Service. His bags had been placed in the plane when suddenly he disappeared.

WAITED 45 MINUTES

Hayter waited for 45 minutes, then threw the bags out and took off without Torrington.

It is reported that his aunt died recently and left him an estate of about $12,500. His mother, who is married a second time, and his sister, a Mrs. Pickering, lived in Edmonton, but are now believed to have left the city.

Prior to going north in 1933, Torrington had been employed as a taxi driver with McNeill's and Jack Hays.

PREDICTS RUSH TO STAKE GOLD CLAIMS

"I worked in the Yellowknife country last year for the Burwash crowd and now I'm going in to stake for myself," said J. Murray Wilson, Toronto geologist, when he arrived in Edmonton Friday, bound for the mineral fields of the north.

"And I'm in a hurry, too," he said. "The Toronto crowd has heard all about Goldfields, Beaverlodge, Yellowknife, Hottah Lake and Great Bear, so there will be quite a stampede from the east as the boys rush in to stake before breakup."

McMeekan worked last year for the Burwash Yellowknife Mines, went east for a holiday and is now hurrying about Edmonton making final arrangements before hopping north.

Think Canada Should Take Full Share In Strengthening Hand

Two-Day Caucus at Legislative Buildings Concluded Thursday — Five Committees Appointed

Concluding their two-day caucus at the legislative buildings on Thursday night, social Credit members of parliament, under the chairmanship of their house leader, J. H. Blackmore, of Lethbridge, decided as a policy that there should be a stronger and more effective League of Nations and felt that Canada should take its full share in strengthening the League's hand.

Mr. Blackmore left later for his home in Lethbridge and the caucus will reconvene at Ottawa on Thursday, Jan. 30.

The caucus also appointed five committees to especially study various activities in which the group is interested.

STATEMENT ISSUED

Seen after adjournment of the caucus, Mr. Blackmore made the following statement on the Social Credit stand on international relations, which probably will form the subject of a lengthy debate at Ottawa:

"The Social Credit party favors a greater degree of international justice and good will among the nations, looking particularly on such nations as at present are suffering under irritating handicaps. Because of past treaties which have painfully deprived them of sources of raw material and other things which would give them economic stability.

"We recognize that because of these conditions aggravating the ills of the present economic system, nations feel restless.

"It is also evident that nations such as Italy and Japan have never possessed sufficient territory to provide them comfortably to expand. The Social Credit party feels that peace of conditions is a great deal of sympathy and consideration ought to be felt among British people for these less fortunate peoples and that such sympathy should be manifest to those peoples.

"At the same time, we believe that the territorial integrity, prestige, and security of the British Commonwealth of Nations which have been handed down to our generation by our fathers ought to be safeguarded and maintained to the fullest degree necessary.

"We therefore favor a stronger sentiment of union with the British Commonwealth of Nations. We also favor a stronger and more effective League of Nations and feel that Canada should take its full share in strengthening the hand of the League, trusting always that the League will be ever-righteous and just in its conduct.

FAVOR SUCH STEPS

"We favor such steps on Canada's part as will render her powerful enough in all respects to make her effective part in any world crisis with which the League might be called upon to deal.

"At the same time the Social Credit party firmly maintains that the underlying ills of world economic unrest arises to an extremely great degree from faults which are inherent in the present economic system, and it calls upon all earnest, peace-loving people to spare no effort to bring about such changes in the present economic system as will be sufficient to mitigate and ultimately completely to remove, the causes of war. Toward this end we will direct our efforts."

COMMITTEES NAMED

Mr. Blackmore named the following committees to continue the study of subjects mentioned:

Finance and Money: P. J. Rowe, Norman Jaques, Joseph Needham, A. H. Mitchell.

Unemployment: E. J. Poole, Dr. W. S. Hall, John Landeryou, F. H. Kuhl.

Trade and Industry: O. B. Elliott, James Marshall, Charles Johnson, Robert Fair.

Agriculture: A. Needham, E. J. Poole, Robert Fair, Victor Quelch, Norman Jaques.

LECTURES ON PROPHECY TO START JAN. 19

Premier Aberhart Plans To Start Series Here

Premier William William Aberhart's Sunday evening lectures in this city, along the same lines as those given at the Prophetic Bible Institute at Calgary, will start one week from next Sunday, January 19, if all necessary arrangements can be made.

This decision was reached at a meeting held at the Masonic Temple on Thursday evening.

The meeting was called as a result of petitions being widely circulated asking the premier to start such lectures.

An advisory committee was appointed to deal with the matter, as follows:

Chairman, Hon. E. C. Manning, vice-chairman, D. B. Mullen, M. L. A.; secretary, Orvis Kennedy; treasurer, Dr. Victor W. Wright, and chairman of the ushers' committee, A. A. Hill.

The meeting, urging that lectures start, the committee was instructed to make arrangements for time, place and other details.

EYE STRAIN

Eye Strain is an enormously frequent, fertile, and unsuspected source of nervous diseases and other symptoms, commonly non-ocular. While eye strain may, and often does produce symptoms directly referrable to the eyes, such as pain in and around the eye, irritation and inflammation of the lids, it is indeed a noteworthy fact that in many cases people complain little or not at all of ocular symptoms. In cases of the greatest eye strain people will heartily aver that the eyesight is perfect and perfect and give no trouble.

Thousands all about us today are suffering multi-form and irremedial injury, directly or indirectly, because of unnatural eye strain.

Eye strain as a cause of headaches is a very important subject. At the present time, investigation of a case of headache is not complete until the eye has been carefully considered. We firmly believe that at least three-fourths of all headaches are due to eye strain.

When your living depends upon work, you can't afford to neglect the headaches, fatigue and other troubles which are in most cases caused by eye strain. Jackson Bros. Edmonton Holsteins Are Record Breakers

The Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, has completed four good R.O.P. records on members of their Holstein herd at Olivet, the highest one being on Porch Sylvia Camille, sired by King Peach Colantha. This good cow with seven-years-old produced 17,404 lbs. of milk and 625 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days on just twice-a-day milking.

The University of Alberta farm owns another record breaker in Buttercup Beatrice Bunty that made 16,648 lbs. of milk and 586 lbs. of fat as a three-year-old and was milked only twice a day for 365 days.

Daleford Grace Kobs, a three-year-old Holstein cow owned by J. W. Hedrick, South Edmonton, also completed the follwing production record in the Canadian R.O.P.: 15,436 lbs. milk, 527 lbs. and butterfat, 468 lbs. She was milked twice daily for 305 days.

Many Attend Annual Frolic

FORT ST. JOHN, B.C., Jan. 10—The Providence Hospital W.A.'s annual New Year's eve dinner and dance at the community hall was a decided success as, despite the cold weather, more than 250 people attended. Prizes to lucky ticket holders were drawn by Miss D. Phillips and R. Powell of Charlie Lake.

It is believed both legs can be saved for Billy Bediere, who was badly frozen when he was pinned under a load of wood for 19 hours during a blizzard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Finch have left for a two-month trip to Edmonton and the coast. They may go as far as Ocean Falls.

PREPAYMENTS CIVIC TAXES NOW $149,000

Rolling into the city tax collection department in the form of cash and cheques, tax prepayments on Thursday night totalled $149,114. Thomas Walker, collector and assessor, stated Friday. Largest payment made Thursday was $25,869, received from the John Deere Plow Company.

Among the smaller payments was that made by Charles Juchli, of 8840 87 street, who paid $5cfor this year's taxes.

Mr. Walker pointed out that only five days remained in which to make prepayments of 1936 taxes and receive advantage of the 4% per cent interest allowed on all payments made before the installation due date. The prepayment period expires January 15.

Re-Alignment Studies Planned

Seeking ways of bringing the high school curriculum more in line with present-day needs, the curriculum committee of the education department held a meeting on Friday under the chairmanship of Premier William Aberhart as minister of education.

Figures adduced before the committee showed that only four per cent of the school population ultimately reaches university and 96 per cent do not. The desire is to bring the curriculum more in keeping with the 96 per cent as there is a feeling education cost too much now to those going in for a professional career. The committee desires to give more direction and advice to the students.

Members of the committee felt that when the Premier's plan of enlarged school districts is brought into effect that the standard of rural education will be more in line with urban, as, if each school in a city had to operate its own board, the standard would not be so high as operating under a joint board.

Relief Chairman Is Not Dismissed

Reports circulating the city on Thursday to the effect that A. A. MacKenzie, chairman of the Alberta Relief Commission, had been dismissed by Hon. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and in charge of relief, were denied by government members.

Premier William Aberhart said "I know nothing of it." Hon. Mr. Cross declared Mr. MacKenzie had not been dismissed and Mr. MacKenzie said he had received no notice of this nature.

However, the entire relief situation is known to have been discussed in the cabinet and Premier Aberhart himself announced on his return here on Monday that the whole relief department would be probed. The personnel was later discussed but it was decided that no action would be taken regarding Mr. MacKenzie or Mr. Kolb.

CRIME AMONG JUVENILES TO BE SURVEYED

Federation of Community Leagues to Probe Question Shortly

A large number of delegates were present at the first meeting of the New Year of the Federation of Community leagues held in the city council chambers Thursday night. Some 20 community leagues were represented. President L. Lloyd Jones was in the chair. W. C. Dean, secretary, was also present.

The meeting commenced with a radio address delivered by Dr. H. F. Smith over CKUA on "Question Marks in Psychology." Juvenile delinquency its cause and methods of handling it were briefly discussed by Dr. Smith.

PROBE JUVENILE CRIME

The federation has decided as a result of the recent agitation in regard to juvenile crime to investigate the matter at a later date and see what action the community leagues will take to prevent its increase and to aid in handling the situation. Canon Clough and K. C. MacLeod will speak to the federation on the subject in the near future.

Reports of various committees were heard. The civics committee reported progress in regard to the proposed bus service to Forest Heights, Riverdale and Cloverdale. Two meetings have been held with city commissioners and further meetings will be held. The whole situation is being thoroughly investigated.

The educational committee reported that several speakers have been secured to speak to Community leagues throughout the city. Speakers secured include Fire Marshal George Booth, B. W. Green, on milling; Game Commissioner Stan Clarke, E. A. Corbett and Don Cameron, of the department of extension; Professors J. Adam and M. H. Long; M. J. Hilton, Cyril Wates, John Blue, Dr. Shoemaker and J. W. Merrit. The last two speakers will deal with the subject of horticulture.

PROMOTE DRAMATICS

The promotion of dramatics, small discussion groups on economics and the showing of educational moving pictures are recommended by the committee.

It was decided to hold an annual banquet some time in March. This year will mark the 20th anniversary of the formation of the first Community League in Edmonton and the 15th anniversary of the formation of the Federation.

It was decided to refer the question of the payment of city aldermen to the Community Leagues to discuss before taking any official action on the matter.

A report was submitted by the sports committee and a booklet describing the annual carnival which is to be held February 18, 20 and 21 was circulated. The carnival will include skating races, fancy skating, trick skating, figure skating, barrel jumping, fox chase and other comical and entertaining events. The booklet also gives a list of senior, junior, juvenile, midget, bantam, girls' and married men's hockey schedules.

Constitutional amendments were also discussed.

Socred Systems No Solution To Ills Is Claim

That neither the Aberhart nor the Douglas system of Social Credit is a solution to the present economic ills, is the conclusion that the Edmonton Social Study Group has come to, after having made an exhaustive study of both systems during a series of meetings which commenced last November. The final meeting of the series was held Wednesday night in the Rose Room of the King Edward Hotel.

The discussion brought out the fact that many of the members present saw value in the two Social Credit concepts from a social standpoint but felt that the plans were immature and impractical from an economic standpoint.

The Social Study Group will meet January 22 in the Rose Room to discuss education from the kindergarten to the university. G. H. Marr will lead the discussion.

COUNSEL CLAIMS POLICEMAN ONCE FOUND ASLEEP ON BEAT WITH ALARM CLOCK AT SIDE

W. J. Watt N. F. Newton — Chief Const. Draper Judge Coughlin — P. C. O'Shea Judge Ross

Following sensational charges made by ex-constable William J. Watt against members of the Toronto police force, a royal commission, consisting of Judge Duncan C. Ross, Elgin county, and Judge J. J. Coughlin, Essex county, was appointed by Ontario Attorney-General Arthur W. Roebuck to sift the allegations. Watt, called as witness in a Toronto city probe into the conduct of Constable Michael O'Shea, charged that a group of officers operated as a "hundred per cent. gang" in robbing Toronto stores and warehouses. Norman F. Newton, London, prominent as government counsel in Labatt investigations, will aid the commission. Chief Constable D. C. Draper is head of the Toronto police force.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—A policeman snoring gently on his beat with a faithful alarm clock ticking away by his head to awaken him at the proper time was described by counsel Thursday at the Royal Commission inquiry into charges 25 Toronto constables looted downtown stores and warehouses.

The sleepy constable, however, said he could not remember any such occurrence.

WAS PUNISHED

He said, however, that for being off his Yonge street beat in downtown Toronto when Kent's Jewelry shop window was broken in 1930, he was punished by Chief Constable D. C. Draper with cancellation of his weekly day off for a month.

Crown attorney Norman F. Newton, commission counsel, remarked that it was no wonder things got out of hand in No. 1 division (Court Street station) and promised the commission he would go into the question of punishments to determine why major breaches of discipline were penalized only by curtailment of leave.

JEWELRY STORE ROBBED

A jewelry store window was broken and rings and jewelry to the value of $700 taken on one occasion.

McMurdie was one of 10 constables named by Watt who entered the witness stand today to deny the former constable's allegations they took goods from shops and warehouses or received stolen goods. Six others made similar denials Wednesday.

EXPECT HEAVY REVENUE FROM DRIVERS' FEES

Sale of automobile drivers' licenses at the rate of $1 a year, as announced by Premier William Aberhart, should bring additional revenue into provincial coffers of from $200,000 to $250,000, according to compilations made. At present licenses are issued in perpetuity for 50 cents, or until revoked for violation of legislation.

Approximately 100,000 automotive vehicles are licensed each year and it is estimated that each car will average about two licenses.

TRADE BARRIERS MUST BE BROKEN

That there is adequate machinery already set up at Geneva to institute a greater freedom of trade in the world's material resources and thus bring about a more permanent basis of world peace and order, is the considered opinion of Dr. R. C. Wallace, president of the University of Alberta, who addressed the Edmonton Optimist Club Thursday noon.

Removal of tariffs, embargoes and export duties so as to bring about the greatest possible freedom of trade is one of the surest ways to bring about world peace and is a practical solution, the president of the University felt.

Some people have suggested the world government idea, others have proposed a controlling commission operated by the League to control key minerals. However, Dr. Wallace feels that these suggestions, while good, are not practical at the present time though they may be at some future date.

"Taking down trade barriers between countries would greatly ease the international situation. This can be done through trade channels already existing," Dr. Wallace stated.

To Inspect Port

OTTAWA, Jan. 10.—To inspect the port of Vancouver, the Central Harbor Board entrained last night for the west. The three commissioners, H. E. A. Hawken, assistant deputy minister of marine; Col. A. E. Dubuc, chief engineer, department of railways and canals, and B. J. Roberts, assistant deputy minister of finance, were accompanied by several departmental assistants.

With All My Love

By Mary Raymond

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Before her marriage, rich RONALD MOORE had been in love with her. NANCY, Dana's half-sister, loves Ronald, but hides her feeling behind a disdainful attitude.

PAULA LONG'S infatuation for Scott finally arouses Dana's jealousy. After a misunderstanding, she returns to her grandmother's home. Mrs. Cameron uses her influence to make the separation permanent, and the break between the young couple widens.

Ronnie is a comforting friend, but Dana remains disconsolate. Finally, believing Scott loves Paula, Dana decides to divorce him.

Scott believes Dana left him because she was tired of being poor. He becomes a partner of the city's most successful physician, DR. OSBORNE.

Dr. Osborne is called when Dana's grandmother becomes ill. Scott goes in the other doctor's place. After he leaves Dana hears a low whistle from the garden and she rushes there, expecting to find Scott.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI.

THE bench was illuminated by a winter moon. The path where Dana and Scott had danced two summers before was a broad white ribbon in the moon's cold light. But there was no one at all in the garden. No hatless, blond man with a teasing light in his eyes and an impudent grin.

Gaunt trees, shorn of their leaves, rustled eerily in the wind, and strange, stark shadows moved about her. Dana walked slowly toward the house.

In the doorway stood Aunt Ellen. "Dana! What could you be thinking of—coming to the garden on a November night. I couldn't imagine what had happened when you rushed down the stairs. So I followed you, and then I couldn't believe my eyes. You musn't do this again. You might have pneumonia!"

"It is cold out here," Dana answered in a lifeless voice. "No, I won't come again."

After all, when you came to the garden, there was nothing. Perhaps a mocking bird in the tree had imitated that whistle so clearly. A mocking bird.

Aunt Ellen looked tired and discouraged. Dana slipped her arm about her aunt. "After supper you'd better tuck yourself into bed. This has been a stiff day for you."

"Well, everything's all right now," Aunt Ellen said. "Now that Agatha's going to pull through."

Dana was remembering something. Grandmother was going to get well, if she would diet and keep quiet a few days. But Dana had made a promise, and she would stick to it. Grandmother had said it was best for her to marry Ronnie. Grandmother was right, of course.

Aunt Ellen had thought that Scott would come around and plead for forgiveness on his knees. That was the way men did in the eighties and nineties. But Grandmother was wiser. She knew that in these days a past love is quickly forgotten.

* * *

Dana dressed carefully that evening, touching up her lips to extra brightness. She wore a dress Ronnie particularly liked—a dress of sky-blue, made on slim lines with a youthful collar and big sleeves. The girl in the blue dress, in the mirror, had bitter eyes and her red lips had a mocking curve. All the touching up in the world could not hide that.

Ronnie was waiting downstairs. When Dana appeared he would notice the blue dress. Ronnie was going to be one of those husbands who noticed clothes. Scott got only an effect, missing details entirely. Ronnie would notice, too, the subtle change in her tonight. He would not know that everything she had done had been planned. That the invitation in her eyes was as deliberate as her previous efforts to discourage him had been.

"Dana," said Ronnie, as they sped swiftly along in the crisp night air, "I went away last summer because I wanted you to miss me. I stayed away hoping you would miss me so much that you'd never want me to leave again. Child's stuff. But that was the way it was with me. That's the way it is now. I guess one place is as good as another to tell you. I want you. Will you marry me?"

"Nice of you to want me, Ronnie," Dana said in a husky little voice.

"Dana, say yes."

Dana smiled, and nodded her head.

Ronnie stopped the car. "Make it soon," he pleaded. "I've been so lonely. I want you so much! There isn't any use in waiting, is there?"

"Soon," Dana laughed. "That's the way I always make my marriages."

Even in the gloom, she could see the shocked expression on Ronnie's face. "Ronnie," she whispered, "you'll have to be patient with me."

Ronnie answered ardently, "All I want is the chance. I promise you're never going to be unhappy again." He took her in his arms.

* * *

One magic word: 'Engaged' and a miracle had been performed. It was as though the fairy godmother of forgotten houses had touched the Cameron home. And lo! the old place throbbed with vitality.

Dana had waited until her grandmother was well, and then one day had broken the news.

"We won't tell anyone," she said. "We're planning to go off one night soon, drive to Lakeville and be married. I couldn't bear any publicity. And Ronnie doesn't want it, either. Afterward we will go on a honeymoon. Take a cruise — that's what Ronnie wants."

Lines of care were lifted from Mrs. Cameron's face. Aunt Ellen had tried to smile, Dana saw, but couldn't manage it. Sentimental old dear!

"Not a word of this, Sarah," Mrs. Cameron warned through long habit. "Miss Dana and Mr. Ronnie don't want anyone to know until after they are married."

"Yes, Ole Mis! Nobody could drag it out of me."

"There'll be lots to do. Get some cleaners in here tomorrow. I wish there was time to have those draperies taken down and cleaned. Have Jake get in that garden and rake up all those leaves. We'll have the kitchen painted with some of that quick drying stuff they use now."

Dana listened, a faint smile on her face. The news of her plans to marry Scott two years ago had been received so differently. She mustn't think of that now. She must mark off those two years. From now on, it must be as though they had never happened.

"Have you told Nancy?" Mrs. Cameron turned her beaming face toward Dana.

"Not yet."

"She's upstairs in her room."

"I'll go up," Dana said.

Nancy had washed her hair and was sitting before the fire, letting it dry in a gypsyish tangle. With the waving locks about her thin face, Nancy looked really pretty. Her eyes were charming under her straight level brows. And she had a pretty mouth.

* * *

It was hard to tell Nancy, though Dana didn't know why. "Nancy," she said quickly, "Ronnie and I are going to be married."

That was the way. No preliminaries. Now it was over.

Nancy's face changed. All the softness was gone. And it was white and queer looking. Her dark eyes blazed.

"Ronnie!"

"Yes," said Dana bewildered.

"You're going to marry Ronnie?"

"Nancy, you're not pleased?"

"Pleased!" Nancy was laughing suddenly, hysterically.

So Ronnie had been right that day. Nancy did hate him. Dana spoke stiffly, "I'm sorry you feel that way about Ronnie. It's hard to understand how you could dislike him when he's so fine and when he likes you so much, too."

Nancy's long lashes swept her cheeks a moment as she lowered her eyes. "I imagine you're going to tell me you're in love with Ronnie, Dana," she said in a low voice. "Well, you can spare the words. But I suppose it doesn't matter. Nobody knows the meaning of the word nowadays."

"I'm terribly fond of Ronnie," Dana said in a low voice. "I'm through with the kind of love you mean. I hope I'll never love like that again!"

"And what about Ronnie?"

"What difference does it make?" Dana said slowly. "Lots of marriages are one-sided."

Nancy said, "I think you are terrible. But I'm afraid I can't wish you happiness. I'm pretty certain you won't be happy."

Her level, scornful voice followed Dana to the door. "You won't need happiness with Ronnie's money."

"I will be happy with Ronnie," Dana told herself wildly. "Happiness is peace of mind and not a fierce hunger. It's having beautiful clothes and a magnificent home and a yacht and high powered cars that stretch from Magnolia to Elm street. It's sitting on a throne with everybody envying you and catering to you."

She was weeping her heart out. Because in spite of the brave words, Nancy was right.

SUCH IS LIFE—By Walt Munson

"Hmp! It ain't bad enough that I have to pound a beat all day, now I gotta walk the floor half the night!"

The Tragedy Of Sir Henry Thornton

By D'Arcy Marsh

Sir Henry was in Montreal on October 24th. That was the day when five billions were wiped off the Wall Street market in the severest break in history. President Hoover issued an almost alarmingly prompt reassurance on the following morning: "The fundamental business of the country, that is, production and distribution of commodities, is on a sound and prosperous basis." On November 13th the market hit a new low level, but Jesse Livermore, the financier, ventured the confident remark, "To my mind, this should go no further." And Julius Rosenwald, of Sears Roebuck and Company, commented, "Comparatively few people are reached by this crash."

Unfortunately Sir Henry was not among the number. In New York, the financial nerve centre of the continent, men and women began vaguely to realize that their lives had been changed over-night; men and women who had never thought of problems of securing food and shelter, faced the future without money, without training and many without faith. Those who couldn't stand it, threw themselves out of penthouses, or solved their problems with poison or the gun. Wall Street, once dignified and supremely confident—Wall Street which had issued its proclamations of continuing solidarity—became a street of white faces and hurrying feet. And, just as in 1912 the passengers on the Titanic who a few hours before had been listening to the music of Straus and strolling on the spacious decks, smashed each other's faces like beasts as they struggled over half-filled lifeboats, so did the victims of the 1929 catastrophe fight blindly for the dwindling vestiges of security.

SHOCK DELAYED

The bullet does not send its impact home instantaneously to the brain. The shock of October 24th was not immediately felt in North America, and a cry arose from the captains of finance and industry whose authority still survived — a half desperate assertion of optimism and confidence. Hoover himself led the chorus, "Any lack of confidence in the economic future or the basic strength of business in the United States is foolish." Roger Babson began his series of prophecies which came to resemble the forecasts of prophets concerning the second coming of the Lord—the great day receded with dreary regularity as the anticipated event failed to materalize.

In Canada the business minds spoke words of confidence. Sir Henry joined in, with a qualified enthusiasm, "We shall proceed with courage and with caution." The great industries and the arteries of commerce were as yet untouched. The wheels still turned and millions of workers continud to go home to their contented families, conscious only of some slight disturbance in the remote places whence emanated the golden stream which maintained their activity. But in a short time the roar of machinery was to die down, the barriers to go up before factory gates and hopeless men trudge homeward for the longest holiday of their lives. In Canada, fine trains continued to thunder across the prairies and through the mountains—the Imperial Limited, the Trans-Canada Limited, and others—bearing their loads of light-hearted holiday makers; but soon the grey freight would creep out, carrying another sort of human cargo—grotesque and huddled forms, crouching dangerously on the roofs of cars, lying along the piled timber, dropping off at cities with faces blackened by engine soot, throwing their packs on outgoing freights and scrambling after them; soon the long, futile trek of men who were no longer wanted would begin, from town to town, from city to city, across the Dominion and back again, as the governments glibly told them to pass on and they lost identity with the places where they had once lived.

ACORSS CANADA

The Canadian National Railways system itself stretched across the length of Canada, southward into the United States, northward to the Hudson Bay—a glittering success. Despite the disadvantages of vehement and brilliant competition, of over-expansion of mileage, allied to retarded development of facilities, of political opposition, there had emerged from broken-down railways, operated half-heartedly by men possessing no corporate enthusiasm, a railway second to none in the Western world, staffed by a body of men in whom had been instilled a fierce and aggressive loyalty.

Then suddenly, almost in a day, a question thrust itself into prominence. Had it been built upon a fallacy? It was a question which almost every great commercial firm also would have to answer. The wells were drying up. Soon trade would shrink and employment dwindle; communities would be stricken; the whole complex structure of society would begin disintegrating under the impact of the rout from Hooverism.

The melancholy shrinkage in trade and industry was the prime cause of the disaster which overtook the Canadian Natoinal and of the serious plight in which its rival found itself. It is essential that this point be remembered, if a true picture is to be obtained of the subsequent railway crisis. The troubles and miseries which ensued were an indictment of an underlying folly, a folly which permeated the entire economic structure.

NATURE OF FOLLY

The precise nature of that folly has not yet been determined. It is banality to point out that the materials for building the rails, trains, hotels and steamships; the people to operate these properties; the people to use them—all existed and were waiting for the ingenuity of man to usher in the age of plenty. It is banality, but it is essential that the point be made, for the Canadian National as it was when panic overtook North America was a prematurely fulfilled dream, the hint of a future which, it seems, is to be reached only through tortuous economic and political conflicts.

Sir Henry sailed for Europe on November 27th for a brief visit, but before he left a disturbing incident occurred. Mr. Aronivici walked into the Mount Royal Hotel and took an expensive suite of rooms. He was little changed from the days when they had been friendly in Paris.

Still immaculate, still debonair, for until shortly before that time the years had dealt kindly with him. After the customary courtesies had been exchanged, it was made apparent that Mr. Aronivici had not crossed the Atlantic merely to take a look at the boulevards of Montreal and compare them with his own beloved Paris. A peculiar relation had existed between him and the Canadian National management. Upon Sir Henry's suggestion, and against the desires of some of his colleagues, the Canadian National had secured offices in the Scribe, the famous little hotel at the corner of the Rue Scribe and the Boulevard des Capucines, which overlooks the heart of Paris.

STRATEGIC IMPORTANCE

It was a position of great strategic importance. The railway management had advanced the money to Aronivici to buy the Scribe, and had empowered him to run it as a sort of unofficial Canadian National hotel. The original proposal had aroused the opposition of Gerard Ruel, already chief legal counsel for the railway, and he had made the trip to Paris to see if any more satisfactory negotiations could be effected. Eventually the money had been advanced, on ordinary business terms, and the hotel purchased; there had been inserted in the agreement, however, the stipulation that the railway should be able at any time to take over the property, providing Mr. Aronivici were adequately compensated for his trouble. The $2,000,000 appropriation which the transaction involved had provoked considerable oposition, but eventually the deal had been approved, although its full details were not set forth to the public. Subsequently, the Canadian National had made use of the covering clause and taken possession of the entire building.

Mr. Aronivici, however, felt that he had not been treated in a just manner; the compensation had been inadequate for the trouble caused him, and not commensurate with the services he had rendered. He required more substantial fulfilment of the 1923 promises. Furthermore, the journey had been an expensive one, and it was a long way back to Paris. The question which naturally arose concerned his ability to insist upon payment of a large sum. Was he in a position to demand? Mr. Ruel drove down to the Mount Royal and interviewed him.

COMPLICATED QUESTION

It then transpired that, when the negotiations for transfer of the hotel from Mr. Aronivici to the Canadian National were in progress, Sir Henry had cabled his old associate, casually informing him that he would stand behind whatever agreement Aronivici could make; he had pledged himself in the name of the railway. The legal question involved was a complicated one and it looked as if the company would be faced with a long and injurious lawsuit. There seemed to be only one way out. Before the matter was cleared up, Sir Henry had left for Europe, and Mr. Ruel carried on the negotiations, but Sir Henry had realized by this time what it would be necessary to do. From England he cabled $15,000 of his own money, and subsequently Mr. Aronivici left for New York, where he was paid an additional sum, also provided by Sir Henry, in return for an undertaking on his part to trouble the railway no more.

He returned to France a richer and happier man, but his trans-Atlantic voyage had completed for Sir Henry what the stock crash began. The President of the Canadian National was on the verge of bankruptcy.

Compensation For Crop Damage From Game Birds Asked

CALGARY, Jan. 10—Farmers who suffer crop losses of 25 per cent. or more from the ravages of game birds should be compensated by either the Provincial or Dominion government, the Kerndale, Alta., local of the United Farmers of Alberta urged in a resolution received here Thursday to be brought before the U.F.A. annual convention.

The resolution said farmers north of the Peace River suffer heavy losses as a result of game birds, particularly ducks, eating their crops.

AFFIDAVIT PORTRAYS YOUNG ANN COOPER HEWITT AS GIRL EASILY INFATUATED BY MEN

HACKENSACK, N.J., Jan. 10.—Ann Cooper Hewitt, the 21-year-old heiress, who is suing her mother for $500,000 damages in California on the grounds she had her unlawfully sterilized, was portrayed in an affidavit on file here Thursday as a girl easily infatuated by men in uniform.

The affidavit, signed by the mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, said the young woman fell in love with a chauffeur at Riverwood, Calif., four years ago.

"He persuaded her to prepare to run away with him and that encouraged Ann to write letters to him," the affidavit said.

The letters, Mrs. Hewitt said, contained locks of Ann's hair, and "a great many references to things which should not be written about."

"I paid thousands of dollars in currency to secure these letters to break up the infatuation," the affidavit continued.

"From time to time since that date, I have had to use a special means for blocking what seemed to be infatuations on the part of Ann. Mostly these occurred with men in uniform regardless of their station."

Today's Markets

At Toronto—Mines

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—The mining department of the Toronto Exchange had another boiling session today with action concentrated in the golds and base metals. Senior golds were pushed up 15 cents to 3 points. In the base metals, Hudson Bay, Sherritt, Falconbridge and Sudbury Basin featured the trade. All metal groups were well up at the close.

Lake Shore, McIntyre, Wright Hargreaves and Hollinger were heavy traders in the big gold group. Dome sold up to 45½ for a gain of a point, Lake Shore at 54 up 1¼ and McIntyre at 45, up 2¼. Gains of 10 to 20 were recorded for Bralorne, Wright Hargreaves and Little Long Lac. Pioneer advanced about 70 cents.

Toronto—Industrials

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Heavy trading on the price advance, marked today's Toronto industrial share market with interest holding in the oils, metals, and some of the specialties. Nickel advanced more than a point, British American Oil closed above the 21 mark and gains predominated over the board. Volume was the heaviest in several months.

Nickel advanced quickly to around 46½ and closed a point net up. Smelters was unchanged to slightly lower. Brazilian, C.P.R., and Ford A finished practically unchanged.

British American was again the oil leader. Its closing price around 21¼, showed a net gain of about 1⅛. Imperial at 21 had a gain of ¼ and International Petroleum at 34½ was off ½. McColl was barely firm.

At Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—Brisk demand for firm metal stocks lent encouragement to the remainder of the Montreal Stock Exchange list today and gains ranging to nine points were chalked up.

New highs for a year or more were established by Montreal cottons with a nine-point gain. Building Products, up a point or more, and gypsum, up fractionally.

Nickel pushed about a point higher while Hollinger turned strong in the late dealings and added about 75 cents. Smelters moved two points higher.

Constructions were firm. Canada Cement preferred was more than two points ahead and the common up fractionally. Woods Manufacturing gained nearly four and Royal Bank one.

Powers were quiet and barely steady while Papers improved fractionally. Textiles firmed with Canadian Celanese and Bruck Silk up about ¾ each.

At New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Stocks advanced confidently today in a moderately active market.

Washington developments, including house passage of the bonus and the expedited extension of the president's gold powers, were calmly received, although some of the gold mining shares rallied.

Oils and a wide selection of industrials advanced fractions to around 4 points. A number of new highs for several years were registered. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 3,100,000 shares.

WHEAT STEADY IN QUIET SESSION

WINNIPEG, Jan. 10.—After several days out of the market, the Canadian Wheat Board today again sold futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, but wheat prices held steady throughout the quiet session.

Values closed ¼-⅝ cent higher, May at 88¼, July 88⅝ and October 87⅝ cents.

The board's selling was the sole feature to the dull session. Export sales were estimated at less than 250,000 bushels and traders continued to withhold commitments pending a revival in foreign demand for wheat.

Liverpool closed at 1⅛d to ⅜d higher, while Buenos Aires at noon was ⅛-¼ cent advanced. Chicago held small gains most of the day.

Cash grains spreads closed about unchanged. A two-cent advance in flax featured the dull coarse grains pit.

BROOMHALL

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—The demand for overseas wheat remains quiet, but cash markets remain firm due to the small European stocks and the absence of an increase in world's shipments so far this year. However, there have been heavy purchases for Jan.-Feb. and March shipments from Canada and from Australia so that exports from now on will certainly be large.

Official exports from Canada during December were placed at 19,086,000 bushels including the movement to the U.S. for all purposes. This makes a total of 121,000,000 shipped out of Canada in the five months August-December. Of course 35,000,000 of this wheat still remains in bond in the U.S. so that actual overseas exports and U.S. duty paid amount to only 86,000,000 bushels.

NEW YORK BONDS

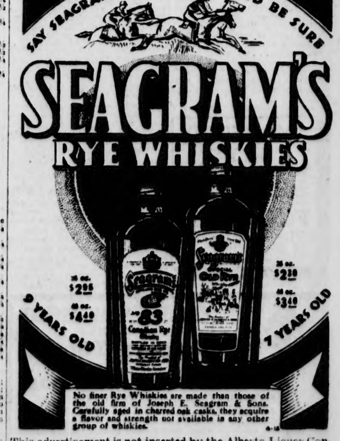

NEW YORK, Jan. 10—The majority of corporate bonds remained in a comparatively narrow range today, showing a generally steady tone.

A few rail issues moved up to new high levels, and certain of the utilities which had been bid up sharply in recent sessions fell back a little under profit-taking.

Foreign groups showed no special feature.

OLYMPIC SIX NOT TO PLAY GAME WITH HALIFAX SQUAD

HALIFAX, Jan. 10.—With an official investigation of the unprecedented dismissal of four members of the Canadian Olympic hockey team close at hand, a drama of amateur sport reached its climax in the refusal of Canadian Amateur Hockey Association officers to allow their team to meet an all-star aggregation here Jan. 16 if the four players they dismissed appeared on its roster. E. Frank Lordly, Nova Scotia vice-president of the Maritime Amateur Hoefey Association, said here last night he expected affidavits of Daddy Bubar of New Glasgow, Ernie Mosher, Chummie Lawlor and Vince Ferguson of Halifax, the dismissed players.

FIFTY-FOUR HORSES NAMED FOR GRAND NATIONAL RACE

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A field of 54 horses was nominated for the gruelling Grand National to be run at Aintree, Liverpool, March 27. Among the entries for the steeplechase, rated the most difficult chase run anywhere, are Major Noel Furlong's Reynoldstown, last year's winner, and Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller, winner in 1934 and favorite last year. A notable absentee from the list was John Hay Whitney's Thomond II, which finished third both last year and in 1934. The Grand National is run over a course of four miles 856 yards, including 30 difficult jumps.

PAT'S PANS by BILL LEWIS

WRESTLING favorites of Edmonton fans are coming back to the cheers of their local followers in Mike Cutcher's wrestling card tonight, and of all sport fans, the wrestling enthusiast is the one who can deliver the loudest cheer or the lustiest boo. . . . Headliners tonight include Bob Cummings, Hugh Adams, Rob Roy and Eddie Meyers, all of them real students of the game. . . . Their science of the more intricate tricks of the complicated wrestling art, combined with a good dose of showmanship, make these grunt and groan shows really worth the price. . . . Mike Cutcher is gradually building up the wrestling game in this city and if he sticks to such performers as those on his card tonight and in previous cards as well, wrestling is here to stay and prosper.

Few boxing or wrestling promotions here have been built up so steadily and as well as middleweight wrestling. . . . It has been a hard grind for the genial and soft-spoken Cutcher, but steadily the game is increasing in popularity, and incidentally to a greater extent among the ladies. . . . Each show brings an increased crowd of ladies, who invariably are accompanied by men, and this in time, will place the game up on a paying proposition. . . .

TONIGHT'S card is possibly one of the best Promoter Cutcher has brought to Edmonton, and, it is rumored, he will be soon featuring the "wrestling policeman," Patrick Meehan, former amateur star, and now doing right well with the pros over the line. . . . Pat. will soon return to Edmonton, accompanied by one of the finest supporting cards the local grapple fans have ever been treated to. . . .

Henry J. Roche is having a tough time with his last player deal which included Gordon "Teny" Savage, of Calgary, property of Canadiens, and Morey Rimstad, popular local professional product. . . . Maybe it's a prefix-ion your sanity's reserve of grey matter, but the lease does not seem clear-cut. . . . Montreal Canadiens, managed by Odie Mantha, own Savage. . . . Mantha started negotiations with Roche for Lane and Rimstad on the first dealings, but finally accepted to close the deal for Rimstad. . . . All concerned were alerted to this effect by Mantha and the deal o'ered on the seventh date of this month. . . . But on the following day, and upon the hour that Savage was to report to the Esks, Calgary owners discovered the stating Savage was sold to them for some thousand "iron men." However, as the Rimstad-Savage deal was definitely tucked in the bag on the seventh, you would think Savage was then property of the Eskimo owner, but Mantha continued to dicker after closing the Eskimo deal. . . . It doesn't sound good business on Mantha's part. . . . Calgary also has reason to argue upon. . . . Savage was firstly loaned out to the Tiger Town for the season, but Mantha again showed inconsistent business dealings by dickering with Edmonton. . . . This fact is what really is burning into the Calgarian hides. . . . But why pat Roche on the spot? . . . It's purely a battle between Calgary and Montreal officials, with the Eskimo owner on the sidelines taking much of the abuse. . . .

HOWEVER, a decision is expected from Frank Calder shortly which will be final, despite the report from Gordon B. Leitch, president of the Northwestern loop, that Savage is to continue to be Calgary property. . . . Calder, the National hockey league chief, is expected to offer a definite decision on the problem shortly. . . .

Next game, Sunday, 10.30 a.m. at the Stadium, Imperials vs Rite Spots.

Two stunning upsets were registered in scheduled encounters of the Juvenile league Thursday evening. The most surprising result was the Maple Leaf 1-0 victory over Glenora, while Rite Spots deadlocked with Edmonton Athletic Club by 1-1.

Marshall Darling paved the way for the Leaf triumph over Glenora. He tallied early in the first period on a lone foray. He poked the disc away from an onrushing forward and sifted down the right boards, closed in on the defence and fired a low drive which caught Billy Drever flat-footed.

MANY CHANCES

Both clubs had many scoring chances throughout the remaining minutes of the session but failed to capitalize on them.

The Rite Spot, E.A.C. affair was probably one of the best games witnessed in the league this season and as the score indicates there was little to choose between the teams.

The clubmen opened the scoring early in the first period when Doug. McKay, burly defenceman, soloed down the ice and fired a high drive just after passing the blue line. The shot was ticketed for a goal all the way and Cummings had little chance of saving.

The second period went scoreless but after seven minutes of play in the final canto, Bob Kellaway placed the teams on even footing with his long shot from right boards.

The "kid line" of Rayner, Fairhurst and Kelloway along with Pusie Proulix, Cummings and MacEachen shone for the Spots while Foley, McHerg, Beauchamp, Black and Harris were best for the clubmen.

Acme High Wins Over Trochu Aces By Score Of 5-1

TROCHU, Jan. 10.—Acme High School defeated Trochu Aces 5-1 in Trochu's initial game of the season played on local ice on Tuesday evening.

This was the opening game in the High School Hockey League, consisting of Acme, Three Hills, and Trochu. Elnora was originally in the league, but have since withdrawn.

Acme showed neat combination, while the Trochu team was badly disorganized and it was largely this fact that decided the game.

V. Earle, Acme net minder, played a brilliant game, stopping many very difficult shots.

G. Reddicupp scored two goals for Acme, the first from a scramble, the second a rebound from one of the players.

J. Tare scored from R. Keir in the second game for Trochu's only tally in the game. T. Young scored for Acme on a face-off in the same period. G. Goodridge and W. Kearns completed the scoring with one each in the last period.

LINEUPS

Acme—V. Earle, goal; T. Peever and A. Earle, defense; G. Reddicupp, T. Young, R. Peever, G. Goodridge, B. Small, A. Isaac and N. Kearns, forwards.

Trochu Aces—F. Chudleigh, goal; N. Danforth and M. Steinbach, defense; H. Hanna, C. Ritz, W. Keirs, J. Tare, V. Roberts, D. Young, and W. Evans, forwards.

Quartet Games Community Loop

Cloverdale and Eastwood were winners in Community juvenile games over Bonnie Doon and Cromdale, respectively, by 5-3 scores.

In the midget section Cloverdale lost to Bonnie Doon by a close 2-1 count, while Cloverdale seniors battled to a 4-4 tie with Rossdale and placed these teams tied for top place.

Needed Then At $80,000

Babe Ruth kept Ed. G. Barrow, business manager of the New York Yankees, in the background during his starring days. Barrow, in return, thwarted the old home run king's ambition to manage a major league club. Ruth is shown, at left, signing a two-year contract at $80,000 in 1930. Colonel Jacob Ruppert, right, smiles, for Ruth's spindly legs were still sound, and that was all that was required to make the brewer's deal with the greatest long-range hitter of all time a bargain.

Yankee Official Labels Ruth As Risky Managerial Timber

By HARRY GRAYSON

Ruth wanted to manage the New York Yankees when little Miller Huggins, the man who straightened him out and whom he had learned to admire, died in 1929, but Barrow, business manager of the club, came up with a surprise choice in Bob Shawkey in 1930.

That Ruth was never to be given the opportunity to which he was clearly entitled became evident with the appointment of Joe McCarthy in 1931.

WAS BAD BOY

Ruth was something of a bad boy when he played with Boston Red Sox, managed by Barrow in 1918 and '19. It is reported that on one occasion, while Ruth was pitching the Red Sox to their last American League pennant in 1918, Barrow locked the clubhouse door and suggested to the Babe that they have it out. The Bam is said to have walked out.

It was Barrow who first saw Ruth's potentialities as a long-range hitter.

BARROW THWARTS RUTH

Ruth and Barrow never did get along, however. They were no closer together when Barrow followed Ruth to New York in 1921. They were still far apart when the Bam left the Yankees for the Boston Braves last spring. And now the breach is wider than ever.

Col. Jacob Ruppert undoubtedly would have given Ruth a whack at managing the Yankees, but ever since engaging Barrow, the brewer has left the direction of the outfit in the hands of that shrewd executive.

WARM ADMIRER

Thomas Austin Yawkey, the young man of many millions, was a warm admirer of Ruth. The Babe was all set to go to the Red Sox as head man, but not after Edward Trowbridge Collins chatted with Barrow.

Ruth muffed opportunities to pilot the Chicago White Sox and Detroit Tigers. There are various stories as to how he missed out, with the frequent-ous figure of Barrow ever lurking in the background. After all, it was Barrow who libeled Ruth risky managerial timber.

* * *

TOO BIG FOR BASEBALL

Ruth made an office boy of Barrow and was a disturbing element in more ways than one.

The Babe went straight to Colonel Ruppert in his financial transactions.

The owner comes directly into the picture when a player merits consecutive contracts calling for $60,000, $70,000, $80,000, $75,000, $52,000, and $35,000.

President To Support Tiger Team On Savage

CALGARY, Jan. 10.—Gordon "Tony" Savage, utility star, is the property of Calgary Tigers and would play with that club until further notice, President Gordon B. Leitch of the Northwestern Hockey League, informed club officials in a wire received last night.

Mr. Leitch said the League Board of arbitration would rule on the dispute between Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary for the services of the goal-scoring defenceman who was moved to centre after he had counted three times in the third period to defeat Seattle Seahawks 3-1 in a recent game at Calgary.

MAY DROP OUT

Officials of the Calgary club at a meeting yesterday postponed discussion of a threat to drop out of the league if they lost Savage, whom Edmonton club officials claimed they obtained in a trade with Montreal Canadiens.

Before Wednesday night's game here between Edmonton Eskimos and Calgary, Savage was ordered by Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League to report to Edmonton and when Savage skated onto the ice in a Tiger uniform Henry Roche of the Edmonton club ordered the game be played under protest.

After a meeting in which disbanding of the Calgary club was discussed, Tigers' officials placed the case of Savage in the hands of Frank Calder, N.H.L. president, and decided to take no action regarding the future of the club until a reply is received from Mr. Calder.

PLENTY OF CHANCE

There was "plenty of chance" the Tigers might disband, President Gordon Henderson of the Calgary club, said last night.

Montreal Canadiens loaned Savage to Tigers for the 1935-36 season after the player refused to accept the N.H.L. disciplinary fine, but the agreement the lightweight defenceman was to become the property of the Calgary club when a satisfactory player was delivered to Canadiens.

Wilf McGregor was sent to Canadiens but found unsatisfactory. Wednesday night the Calgary club was informed Savage had been traded to Edmonton for Morey Rimstad, youthful forward, who was to be delivered at the end of the season.

"After negotiating with Edmonton and announcing a trade," Mr. Henderson said, "Canadiens offered to sell Savage to Calgary for $2,000. Tigers accepted with reservations.

"When McGregor was found unsatisfactory, Calgary was given no chance to deliver another player before the deal with Edmonton was completed."

The Calgary board of directors will meet today to discuss the situation.

GREAT GOALING BY LAYETZKE THWARTS SUPERIORS' EFFORTS

Twelve Hundred Fans See Dominions Score Eighth Victory in Nine Starts in Close Encounter

By JOFFRE DECHENE

Uncorking a sudden attack from the faceoff, which netted them a goal 50 seconds after the opening gong, and increasing their lead as the game progressed, Dominions romped to their eighth victory in nine starts, adding to their fourth consecutive win over Superiors, in a scheduled Senior League encounter at the Arena last night.

After taking a one point lead in the first period, Dominions were never headed thereafter, and ably supported by Layetzke's brilliant work in the nets, coupled with a strong defence, they were well worth their victory.

SOOPS THREATENED THROUGHOUT GAME

Superiors, however, were threatening throughout and their raids on the Dominion goal were as numerous and as dangerous as those of the Motormen. It was on the defensive that they fell down. Don Stuart, protected by a defence line which looked weak at times, made some beautiful stops during the course of the game, but treated Dominions to at least one easy goal, which, had it been stopped, might have changed the whole outcome of the game.

Dominions' Grove-Anderson-Purcell line worked well as usual, although it did slip up on the finish of a few nice plays. Anderson in particular played a hard-working game, back-checking fast and executing some nice individual plays. Graham Morgan were especially effective for Soops, the former working his way at his usual fast pace right to the goal mouth, only to have Layetzke save.

McSPORRAN GOOD

Young Eddie McSporran was the pick of Superiors' second-stringers, while Dominions' kid line of Macleod, Hargraves and Brown looked good. Dominions' fence proved quite solid and turned aside many dangerous Superior rushes.

A scant 50 seconds after the start of play, Dominions had hit Superior nets for a counter, when Hargraves, playing high, scored unassisted on an easy shot.

That initial tally was enough to give the play needed zest and both teams tightened up, each enjoying the brunt of the territorial play. However, Dominions sent their stock sky-rocketing eight minutes after their first counter, by again tallying, this time on a solo effort by Jimmy Anderson, who let a shot fling from his side on which Stuart had no chance.

SOOPS TALLY

Enough is enough and staring at that unpleasant defeat, Superiors went to work and after holding the puck in Dominion territory for some time, banged one in Lammie scoring on a pass from Mavecty. The rest of the first frame went scoreless, the puck being confined for the most part to the neutral zone, as both teams checked closely.

During the second period, both squads fought on even footing, each getting a goal. The pace was faster, but the play was at times inclined to be rough. Superiors' hopes soared when Harry Robertson was chased off for tripping and they scrooged down five men strong, on the winged Dominions, but all to no avail, as the defence, headed by Motormen Gale, weathered the storm. Soops' power play was a little disorganized and they failed to get close in for a sure-fire shot.

Superiors had not yet recovered from their offensive, when Dominions, again at full strength, sent its "kid line" down the ice for a third counter, on a nice combination effort, Hargrave getting the counter on a double assist from Macleod and Brown.

Robertson got the only goal of the period, when he made a bee-line from his own blue line, through the neutral zone, split the Superior defence and let go a shot to the corner of the cage, on which Stuart had no chance.

OLYMPIC SEXTET DROPS ANOTHER

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 10.—Unable to keep pace with the fast-moving Tigers after the first period, the Canadian Olympic hockey team absorbed its second straight defeat in the east, Hamilton's Senior O. H. A. team winning a free-scoring exhibition game by 6-3.

Short-handed through injuries and illness, the Olympic showed lack of stamina, and when they failed to beat the brilliant Charlie Tone in the Hamilton net after the early part of the game, Tigers pulled out in front and won going away.

The Olympic team was without goalie Jack Nash; Dave Neville, Hugh Plaxton and Arnold Deacon, forwards, and defenceman Pud Kitchen. Neville is suffering a head injury and Deacon remained in Toronto with a bad cold. Kitchen and Farquharson have not yet played for the Canadian team.

Raffle Winner

The raffle held by the Cardinal Hockey Club has been won by Mrs. Lovell of the Imperial Apartments. The club wishes to thank all those who bought tickets and those who sold them.

The Soops thinned down their deficit to one point again, towards the end of the period, when Maher earned a nice tally on a solo effort. The third period was the fastest of the game and the crowd was treated to many breath-taking moments, as both goalies were called upon to make spectacular saves. Layetzke's brilliant work was especially tough on "Good Boy" Jimmy Graham, as the veteran worked his way right to the goal mouth on different occasions, only to have his well aimed shots turned aside. Stuart also called upon to make some beautiful saves and he came through in great style, at times when he was the only man to beat on the Superior team.

Army & Navy Six Loses To C.N.R.'s By Margin Of 2-1

In a closely fought game last night at the Varsity rink, the C.N.R. managed to eke out a 2-1 win over the Army and Navy Cubs.

The Army and Navy team was on top for the most of the game. Ward scored early in the second frame. They scored again but the goal was disallowed because of players in the crease.

Wilchinski of the C.N.R. tied the score early in the third period when the Army and Navy had a player in the penalty box. The last goal was scored by Morgan shortly before the final bell.

The A. & N. Cubs played most of the final period with only four men, penalty after penalty being called.

SOUTH SIDERS MAY INCREASE JUNIOR LEAD

South Side A's have a chance —a golden opportunity to build up their junior league lead— they play the hard-fighting Safeway-Canadiens on Sunday afternoon at the Arena in a scheduled encounter.

The Athletics took the lead away from Edmonton Athletic Club last Wednesday, defeating that club by an 8-5 score. And with this triumph they took over leadership by the narrow margin of one point.

Canadians, showing increased strength, will be giving the South Siders a stiff battle on their drive back into the race, and its assured by all contestants that it will be the best.

Boston Red Sox End Foxx Problem

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The Boston Red Sox have settled in a simple manner one problem that threatened to be a severe headache to owner Tom Yawkey and business manager Eddie Collins.

They tore up Jimmie Foxx's old contract, which still had two years to run, and handed him a new one-year document reputedly at a somewhat higher salary, and hushed the threat of holdup that might have had a serious effect on the club. He will get $25,000.

Entire Baseball Club Gets Raise

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—For probably the first time in all baseball history, an entire ball club is to get a pay increase.

Manager Charlie Grimm announced every one of the 23 Chicago Cub regulars, who won the National League pennant last year with their unforgettable 21-game winning streak, would get more money next season. No specific amounts were mentioned.

GARNEAU WINS OVER VICTORIA

Another year of high school senior hockey was ushered in yesterday afternoon at the Normal rink, when two staunch rivals, Garneau and Victoria, clashed in the first scheduled senior battle of the New Year, the boys from the southern bank of the river getting the best of the argument with a 3-0 verdict.

Crippled by the lack of subs and with two of their best men on the injured list, Victoria put up a great battle, but the pressure let loose by the Garneau lads proved too much for them.

Feature of the game was the brilliant work of both goalies for their respective teams, Smith well earning that, while Wilkie thwarted many dangerous looking thrusts by Garneau snipers.

The first two periods were somewhat ragged, with the Vic boys showing better combination, while Garneau starred individual play. Stan. Oakes got the first goal for the winners, when he slipped the disc in the nets from a scramble in front of the goal.

Gordie Campbell ended the scoring for the evening in the third period, after both teams, warming up to the fray had given supporting in attendance a much improved brand of hockey.

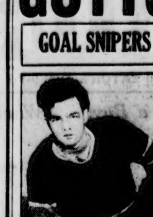

LINEUP

Garneau—Doug. Smith, West, McDonnell, Harley, Oakes, Sutton, Millar, Wilson, Campbell, Bothwell, Algar.

Slim Hawk Winger Marks Up Triumph Over Amerk Squad

Gottselig Gets All Four Goals as Mates Beat Americans, 4-1—Morenz in on Brace Of Assists

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. — Johnny Gottselig, the slim, black-thatched Reginan who patrols the left wing for Chicago Black Hawks, last night hoisted his team into the thick of the battle for second place in the United States division of the National Hockey League by scoring four goals as the Chicagoans defeated New York Americans 4-1.

Some 8,000 fans roared their acclaim to a neat job as Gottselig sniped a pretty goal past little Roy Worters in the New York cage early in the first period. The flashy Hawk added another in the second, and climaxed his brilliant night's playing by rapping in a pair of tallies in the final frame.

Howie Morenz, speedy Chicago centre, earned assists on Gottselig's first and third goals, but Johnny chalked the others unassisted after spectacular stick handling displays.

The lone American tally went to Art Chapman near the end of the first session following a passing bout with Lorne Carr and Sweeney Schriner.

Hoping that Frank Calder, president of the N.H.L., will favor his decision upon them in the deal with Canadiens for Gordon "Tony" Savage, Henry Roche, Eskimo center, and Rimstad, local player involved, had little to say upon the statement made by Gordon Leitch, boss of the Northwestern league. Roche, pictured at the top and Rimstad lower, hope the deal will be cleared up by Saturday when the Esks again take on Calgary Tigers.

Maroons got the tying goal in the last minute of the middle session on a gang attack. Lionel Conacher started the play from his own blue line with Gus Marker, Bob Gracie and Herbie Cain. COCKSHUTT WINS OVER MOUNTIES

Cockshutt Plows' plowing bunch of puck chasers went into a tie with Hudson Bays for Independent league honors when they beat the revamped R.C.M.P. squad by a 4-3 score last night at Varsity rink.

This encounter was probably the best game played in the Independent league this year, as both teams fighting on even footing for the greater part of the game, flashed a speedy brand of hockey.

Akroyd with two, Mann, Esdale and Runge with one each, scored for the winners, while Chorney and Elock with a brace each tallied for the Mounties.

LINEUPS:

Cockshutt—W. Eldridge, A. Thiverge, R. Shean, L. Akroyd, K. Campbell, H. Shearer, R. Esdale, Alton, W. Runge.

R.C.M.P.—W. Mathews, H. Simmonds, J. Harrison, D. Taylor, W. Cole, J. Marshum, P. Elock, R. Gerlitz, A. Canty.

Referee: E. Meinyk.

ALLISON HAS BEST RATING IN NET YEAR

Budge and Grant Are Next In Line For Tennis Honors

By BOB CAVAGNARO

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—In one of the sharpest revisions in many years, the United States Lawn Tennis association graded Wilmer Allison, Donald Budge and Bryan "Bitsy" Grant in that order in announcing the country's "first 10" stars of 1935.

Allison's designation at the top marks the second straight year the 31-year-old Austin, Tex., player has worn the honors and the eighth successive time he has been included on the preferred list.

He retained his position by staggering the dopesters with a straight set victory over Fred J. Perry of England in the Penultimate round of the United States championship and then walloping Sidney Wood in the final.

BEST PROMOTION

The biggest promotions were handed to the rod-headed Budge and Grant, the Georgia gnome, ranked ninth and tenth respectively in 1934.

The remainder of the makeup of the "first 10" comprises Frank X. Shields, Sidney Wood, Gregory Mangin, Frank Parker, J. Gilbert Hall, Wilmer Hines, and Berkley Bell in that order. Bell has turned professional.

Champion Helen Hull Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., was placed at the head of the women's list for the fourth year in a row. The association explained Mrs. Helen Wills Moody was not ranked "because of insufficient data."

Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, who turned pro last November, was ranked second to Miss Jacobs. The other members of the women's "first "10" are Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, Carolin Babcock, Mrs. John Van Ryn, Gracyn Wheeler, Mary Greer Harris, Mrs. Mary J. Lamme, Mrs. Dorothy Andrus and Catherine Wolf in that order.

PRO GOVERNORS ADJOURN CONFAB

SEATTLE, Jan. 10.—A meeting of the Northwestern Hockey League Board of Governors stood adjourned until next week, to be resumed either here or in Portland, while expected "fireworks" failed to go off Wednesday afternoon at a get-together.

The directors did vote, however, to muzzle their protests about officiating in the future. Protests must be filed with the league president, Dr. Gordon B. Leitch, of Portland, for action by the directors and the protesting club must pay the expenses of calling the governors together.

Such protests should be kept out of the newspapers, it was voted.

E.A.C. Midgets Practice Friday

The E.A.C. Midgets will hold a workout on 109th street rink Friday night, from 8:00 to 9:00.

All players are asked to be out and to bring with them proof of their age, with date and year of birth.

Leading Scottish Teams Expect Soft Games On Saturday

GLASGOW, Jan. 10—Aberdeen, Rangers and Celtic, top notch teams in the Scottish Football League, should have little difficulty in capturing maximum points in Saturday's fixtures. While Celtic is the only one of the three to play at home, they all meet clubs low down in the table.

Detroit O's Tie Against Syracuse

DETROIT, Jan. 10.—As Johnny Gallagher, Detroit defenceman, missed three penalty shots, Olympics were held to a 3-3 tie here last night by Syracuse Stars in a bitter battle between the International Hockey League's section leaders.

STETTLER WINS AT WETASKIWIN

WETASKIWIN, Jan. 10.—In a clean, fast game Stettler broke Wetaskiwin Colonels' unbeaten record by a score of 4 to 2. There was no score in the first period. Stettler made some snappy runs, but Wetaskiwin was mostly pressing. Superior speed and combination play helped Stettler to score three goals in the second frame. Wilson from Costigan, Duckworth from Wells, Wells from Costigan.

The Colonels put on their pressure play in the third and Brown-Rankin scored in five minutes.

The puck seldom went into Wetaskiwin territory, but Costigan-Wells got away to score in the last minute. McMurdo-Medulk just before the bell rang down the curtain. There were 600 spectators, many of them from Stettler. There were only four penalties.

CURLING

Alberta Avenue won the Ash challenge trophy from the Thistle rinks last night, beating out their opponents by the scant margin of only two points. Rinks skipped by Blackwood who had 14 points and Gee with 8 footed a 22 point score for the Thistles, but Alberta Avenue took it with a 25 point total. Dr. Empay's rink got 10 while Dr. Brown had 15.
